INDIA-PAK GETS RESERVE STRENGTH AS PLAYING CONDITIONS CHANGE

Asian Cricket Council, via PCB, provides extra day to ensure arch rivals' Super 4 game is completed though it is continuing to pour in Colombo

PLAYING CONDITIONS CHANGED MIDWAY

As per the original schedule agreed by all teams, only the final, scheduled to be held in Colombo on September 17, was to have a reserve day. But with rain threatening to play spoilsport, the organisers decide to have an extra day for the clash in case there's rain on Sunday. No other Super Four game will have a reserve day and therein lies the problem

Hold wide-ranging talks, re-emphasise shared values of freedom, democracy, human rights, inclusion and pluralism

Quad, def ties figure in Modi, Biden talks

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday held wide-ranging talks with US President Joe Biden, adding the friendship between the two nations will continue to play a great role in furthering global good.

"Happy to have welcomed Joe Biden at Lok Kalyan Marg. Our meeting was very productive. We were able to discuss numerous topics which will further economic and people to people linkages between India and the US. The friendship between our nations will continue to play a great role in furthering global good," said the prime minister.

"PM Modi and President Biden expressed their appreciation for the substantial progress underway to implement the ground breaking achievements of PM Modi's visit to the US in June. The leaders called their governments to continue the work of transforming the India-US Strategic Partnership across all dimensions of our multifaceted global agenda, based on trust and mutual understanding," according to a joint statement from the White House.

The leaders re-emphasised that the shared values of freedom, democracy, human rights, inclusion, pluralism and equal opportunities for all citizens are critical to the success their countries enjoy and these were the values that strengthened their relationship.

OPEN, FREE INDO-PACIFIC

"Prime Minister Modi and President Biden reaffirmed the importance of the Quad in supporting a free, open, inclusive, and resilient Indo-Pacific," the joint statement said

Biden reaffirmed his support for a reformed UNSC with India as a permanent member, and in this context welcomed India's candidature for the UNSC non-permanent seat in 2028-29.

The two leaders also reaffirmed their collaboration in defence ties, critical and emerging technologies, semiconductor supply chains, telecommunications, quantum computing, cyber security, education, health and energy amongst other things.

Earlier in the day, Modi had separate bilateral meetings with Bangladesh's Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina and her Mauritius counterpart Pravind Jugnauth. The first bilateral was with Jugnauth. India and Mauritius are celebrating 75 years of diplomatic ties. "We discussed cooperation in sectors like infrastructure, fintech, culture and more. We also reiterated India's commitment to furthering the voice of the Global South," said Modi.

As for his talks with Hasina, the PM said, "Our talks covered areas like connectivity, commercial linkages and more."

Sources said the Bangladesh PM is likely to inaugurate a rail link with Tripura and the second unit of the Rampal power plant along with Modi, virtually from Delhi, on the sidelines of the G20 meetings. P11

Delhi leaders declaration to have voice of Global South

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE draft of the New Delhi Leaders Declaration is almost ready and will be recommended to the leaders, said India's G20 Sherpa, Amitabh Kant.

"Only after the New Delhi leaders' declaration is formally accepted, we will be able to talk about the actual achievements of the declaration," Kant said a day ahead of the G20 Summit.

The declaration will have the voice of the Global South and developing countries. "No other document in the world would have such a strong voice for the Global South and developing countries," Kant said adding that the challenges the world faced post the last G20 were massive.

When India took over the G20 Presidency in Bali last year, it was in the midst of a slowing global growth and productivity. The pandemic followed by the conflict in Ukraine had a telling effect on most economies of the world, squeezing them and impacting food security. The prime minister was particular that India's Presidency must be inclusive, decisive, ambitious and action oriented, Kant said.

While there will be lots of deliberations on various issues, the focal point is expected to be Ukraine. Charles Michel, President of the European Council, blamed Russia for the conflict in Ukraine. There are three global challenges taking centre stage. The first is the war in Ukraine, the second is fighting climate change and third is fair financing. Multilateralism and solidarity is the only way forward, he said.

POLL-ITICAL FUTURE

BSY confirms BJP-JDS pact for LS elections

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

THE BJP and JDS seem to have already forged an alliance with former prime minister and JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda holding crucial talks with Union Home Minister Amit Shah and BJP national president JP Nadda in New Delhi recently, even as he spoke to Prime Minister Narendra Modi over phone during the meeting.

Although neither Gowda nor former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy officially confirmed forging the alliance, JDS sources privy to the details of the meeting and BJP leaders, including former CMs BS Yediyurappa and Basavaraj Bommai, confirmed it.

According to sources, Gowda held talks with Shah and Nadda in New Delhi on September 5, after which he convened a meeting of JDS leaders at Kumaraswamy's residence at JP Nagar in Bengaluru the next day. At the meeting in Bengaluru, JDS leaders gave their consent to formally forge an alliance with the BJP. The BJP-JDS alliance is aimed at thwarting the efforts of the ruling Congress in Karnataka from winning more Lok Sabha seats as the latter is looking at bagging at least 20 of the 28 seats in the 2024 general elections, riding on the recent formation of the I.N.D.I.A bloc of 28 parties.

The JDS, according to sources, expects five LS seats, including Hassan, Mandya, Kolar, Chikkaballapura and Bengaluru Rural, but would settle for four. The chances of BJP leader CP Yogeshwar contesting on a JDS ticket against the incumbent Congress MP DK Suresh, younger brother of Deputy Chief Minister and KPCC president DK Shivakumar, cannot be ruled out, a source said. P4

BYPOLLS

BJP wins 3 Assembly seats, Oppn parties bag 4

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi / Lucknow / Kolkata / Dehradun / Guwahati / Kochi

THE opposition alliance INDIA bloc on Friday received a shot in the arm as it bagged four assembly seats in bypolls to seven seats across six states.

The BJP secured three seats while the Congress, Jharkhand Mukti Morcha, Trinamool Congress, and the Samajwadi Party won one seat each.

In Ghosi, the SP's Sudhakar Singh defeated BJP candidate Dara Singh Chauhan by 42,759 votes. Interestingly, the bypoll was necessitated after Chauhan, who had won the Ghosi seat in 2022 on an SP ticket, resigned after he joined the BJP.

The BJP won two seats in Tripura, where its candidates Taffajal Hossain defeated CPI(M)'s Mizan Hossain by 30,237 votes in Boxanagar and Bindu Debnath drubbed CPI(M)'s Kaushik Chanda by 18,871 votes in Dhanpur.

In Jharkhand's Dumri, the JMM's Bebi Devi won by 17,000 votes, defeating AJSU's Yashoda Devi.

In Uttarakhand, BJP candidate Parvati Das won the Bageshwar seat by 2,405 votes.

In West Bengal, the saffron party suffered a jolt as it failed to retain the Dhupguri constituency, where the TMC's Nirmal Chandra Roy defeated the BJP's Tapasi Roy by 4,309 votes.

In Kerala, the Congress retained the Puthuppally seat with its candidate Chandy Oommen, the son of late Congress stalwart Oommen Chandy, trouncing the CPI(M)'s Jaick C Thomas by a record margin of 37,719 votes. P12

No fresh probe into Sowjanya case: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday dismissed the public interest litigation (PIL) filed by Girish Bharadwaj and three others seeking a court-monitored fresh investigation into the brutal rape and murder of Sowjanya in Dharmasthala.

Orally observing that the order of acquittal of the accused cannot be challenged by way of PIL, the court said that aggrieved parties –parents of the victim or the investigating agency -- can file an appeal against the acquittal of the accused. Sowjanya, a minor, was raped and murdered on October 9, 2012, in Belthangady police limits in Dakshina Kannada. Initially, the case was investigated by the local police and later handed over to the CBI. Recently, the Special Court for CBI cases acquitted Santhosh Rao, the accused, and stated that the case be placed before the acquittal committee for taking action against errant officials.

The petitioners stated that the real culprits involved in this gruesome case still roam free and this has resulted in trauma and probable danger to more innocent lives. They also stated that the case has become a matter of public importance. Protests are being held across the state for a fresh probe. There is a need for the court's interference to safeguard the interests of the public at large.

53 toll collecting agencies owe state ₹500 crore

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Stamps and Registration Department has taken up the issue of long-pending stamp duty to be paid by all private agencies manning the toll gates across the state.

The department has written to the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) to share details regarding the contracts it had entered into with the agencies to man the toll gates so that the stamp duty due from them can be collected.

A contractor has to pay 1% of the contract sum (amount quoted to obtain the contract) entered into with NHAI towards stamp duty. This is in line with the Karnataka Stamp Act 1957 under Article 32 (A) (i). However, it appears that no strict enforcement of it has been made so far.

Sources said, "If all the 53 contractors manning the toll gates pay the stamp duty on the contracted sum in the licence/agreement obtained for operations, the department would earn a revenue of approximately Rs 500 crore."

In her letters to toll gate operating firms as well as NHAI, BR Mamatha, Inspector-General of Stamps and Registration, Karnataka, directed them to pay the stamp duty.

MUMBAI FIRM TOLD TO PAY ₹5.83 LAKH

Citing an instance of the gross underpayments made by toll gate operators towards Stamp Duty, a source said a contractor had just paid ₹100 as Stamp Duty instead of paying ₹5,83,200 on the agreement entered into with NHAI. The Deputy Commissioner of Stamps and District Registrar, Belagavi, has issued the Mumbai-headquartered company a notice, ordering it to pay the remaining ₹5,83,100 within two weeks of receipt of the notice.

The department's offices in districts across the state have been asked to initiate steps to collect the stamp duty from such firms.

A few toll collecting agencies have paid meagre sums towards stamp duty. "However, a detailed study of their contractual agreements reveals they have only paid a pittance compared to what they actually need to pay," a source said.

"They are also being asked to pay the deficit stamp duty sum," the source added.

Apart from explaining details regarding the stamp duty to be paid, the department has also warned the firms of legal action in case of non-compliance.

Siddaramaiah said that he had announced the setting up of the corporation in the budget he presented a few months ago. "We will establish it soon. A sum of Rs 100 crore will be earmarked for it," he added.

The government will appoint a prominent member of the community as chairperson of the corporation, he said. Siddaramaiah said there is no space for hatredness in the name of caste and religion. But some people are trying to make hatredness as part of the country's culture. Stating that no religion preaches hatredness, he said some people are trying to divide society in the name of religion. "We will not allow any form of moral policing," he added. On the demand to name Shivajinagar Metro station after St Mary, he said that his government will consider it.

BBMP bans single-use plastics

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike's (BBMP) solid waste management department on Friday issued an order banning the use of single-use plastic items in places like schools, colleges and temple trusts falling under the Palike limits, in accordance with Plastic Waste Management Rules-2016.

The Palike also made it clear that use of single-use plastics should be controlled and eliminated progressively by designing appropriate management strategies. The Palike stressed alternatives like cloth or paper items.

As per the municipal corporation, failure to comply with rules will attract fines and other action against violators under Solid Waste Management bylaws.

Officials have been given standing instructions to make continuous efforts to create awareness among the public, especially students and children, and eliminate the practice of using single-use plastics. It will regularly conduct competitions among students on the theme 'Avoid/Give up single use plastic'.

Though a similar order was issued back in 2022, we will be implementing the ban of single-use plastic strictly now, said Prathiba, Joint Commissioner, Solid Waste Management.

Tight CET schedule keeps parents, students on edge

Complain about seat allotment list released after 8pm; As banks close on weekend, use NEFT to pay fees: Director

PURAN CHOUDHARY
@ Bengaluru

PARENTS and students applying to various courses through the Karnataka Examination Authority's (KEA) Common Entrance Exam (CET) are in a fix as close deadlines, late night issuance of seat allotment and bank holidays are making it difficult to complete the admission procedure.

Late on September 7, KEA announced the Round-2 seat allotment results for Engineering, Architecture, B-Pharma, BSc (Nursing) and other courses. Choice selection can be done from September 8 to 10 (1 pm-11:59 pm) and September 11, banking hours.

Parents have complained that CET seat allotment announcements are being issued only post 8pm, which is making the entire process very tiresome and complicated. "They issued the list on Thursday night and challan lists on Friday, but the deadline for fees is Monday, how does one finish all these procedures? Saturday and Sunday are bank holidays. They could have planned better," said a parent whose child has applied for a Mechanical Engineering course.

Some parents have also pointed out that the entire procedure this year is very rushed, leaving very little choice for students. "Comed-K process has been completed, this is the last resort for students," said another parent.

Addressing issues faced by students, KEA Director Ramya S told TNIE, "There is an online option to pay fees, and since it's less than Rs 1 lakh, not everyone needs to collect the challans. Transactions can be made quickly via NEFT. In case many are unable to lock seats, we can extend it by two days, depending on the situation."

The director added that the lists are available only after 8pm as the software is continuously functioning. "The software takes time, there are various courses and seats, names are to be removed from engineering, then added to other courses, sorting out all this is time-consuming," she said.

Ramya stated that the circulars are issued well in advance, and parents need not worry as their requests and complaints will be taken into consideration. Higher Education Minister MC Sudhakar said he is not aware of the situation and will speak to the officials concerned.

Police complex coming up inside Cubbon Park, walkers agitated

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of the Cubbon Park Walkers' Association have taken objection to the Central Division Police starting construction of a complex next to the Bengaluru Central Deputy Commissioner Of Police's office on Kasturba Road, inside Cubbon Park premises.

Association President S Umesh said former Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka had passed an order cancelling permission for constructing a nine floor complex next to Bengaluru Press Club following Public Interest Litigation (PIL) and protest from citizens.

Cubbon Park is spread across 190 acres in which many public and private buildings have come up over the years. If this is not objected to, then the city will lose a prime lung space, the members said.

"The association will mobilise like-minded people, green warriors, activists and protest against the building coming up next to DCP Central Office," said S Umesh.

He said he had filed a PIL with regard to a proposal to build nine floors at the old Election Commission building, and will file another one now.

However, the horticulture department denied Cubbon Park land being used to build a police station complex. "Bal Bhavan, YMCA and Century Club are in the limits of Cubbon Park, but other properties like Cubbon Park Police Station are not in our limits. However, the building code applies to them as well and no building should be higher than Vidhana Soudha. It should have basement parking," said Dr M Jagadeesh.

Another official said permission for construction was given by the additional chief secretary's office earlier.

Bengaluru City Police Commissioner B Dayanand said police have not violated any rules and the new complex at Cubbon Park Police station limits is coming as per approvals.

Firm distributes mattresses to better athletes' sleep

PURAN CHOUDHARY @ Bengaluru

SLEEP is an essential component for athletes to rejuvenate, recover and achieve peak performance. The quality of sleep plays a pivotal role than the number of hours slept. Duroflex, in collaboration with Inspire Institute of Sport (IIS), has leveraged its expertise to help athletes optimise their performance by providing training institutes with free mattresses.

"Routine and discipline matter a lot in an athlete's life, and partnerships like these will help them bridge that gap," said Sreeshankar Murali, gold medallist for long jump in the 13th International Jumping Meet and Silver Medallist, Commonwealth Games 2022.

He added that when we compare with other countries, sporting culture in India is still developing. There are a lot of infrastructural problems, but it's slowly progressing. Having a sports icon for India such as Neeraj Chopra has helped many youngsters take that leap of faith. "We need more high-performance centres and more public-private partnerships that will help India scale, and will be a big boost for sports in India," the athlete said in Bengaluru on Friday.

The brand also launched a new 'Energise' product, which is sustainable and made up of a unique copper gel infusion layer and anti-stress fabric to help individuals get the right kind of sleep – supplied free of cost to athletes in IIS. The anti-stress fabric is made up of recycled yarn made from PET bottles, and packaging of the mattresses is also fully recyclable.

Mohanraj J, CEO, Duroflex said, "This collaboration with IIS is a testament to our belief that quality sleep is the cornerstone of peak performance. Our mission is to help athletes understand the significance of rest in their journey."

Gandhi Bazaar road work not done yet, open it soon: Hoteliers to DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

GANDHI Bazaar Main Road which has been closed for road development and other upgrades for over a year is yet to opened.

As this has inconvenienced a large number of people, the Bruhat Bengaluru Hotels Association (BBHA) has written a letter to Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar urging him to ensure that the road is opened for traffic at the earliest.

In their letter dated September 5, Association President PC Rao said, "Gandhi Bazaar road repair work started last year in August. When Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) commenced the work, it mentioned that it would be completed within six months at a cost of around Rs 50 crore. However, it has been more than a year and the road is still not open for traffic affecting people, offices, vendors, hotels, banks and others in the area."

In addition to inconveniencing people with the slow pace of work, the width of the road has also been shrunk, posing problems for people to park their vehicles, easy movement of senior citizens and physically challenged in the area, the hotel association said.

The association alleged that the works are progressing at a snail's pace due to lack of planning and preparation. Rao said Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar must pay attention to this inconvenience and ensure that the works are completed soon.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

9th September: Yesterday I mentioned the 'Man in the Moon', although actually it's a face rather than a man. But, anyway, in some cultures people prefer to see a rabbit or a hare. Personally I get more excited by looking through my telescope at the actual surface of the Moon, with its giant craters created by huge asteroid and comet collisions.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
There have been so many fussy planetary alignments over the past week that I know many of you probably don't know whether you're coming or going. Today's stars advise a little time spent in quiet, peaceful relaxation. Why don't you take a break and escape the fray?

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You should realise that certain personal difficulties are over, and can attempt to begin the process of coping with the past. After all, sometimes memories are more painful than the actual event. A sensitive Moon should bring solace and reassurance from friends.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You have done a great deal and achieved much, but sometimes you wonder whether it was all worth it. You may be asking the wrong question, and it could be best to check out what you can do for others. If at all possible, you may begin to tackle overdue practical matters.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You will do best today if you indulge your artistic, spiritual and adventurous instincts and minimize your commitments and ties. If you are trapped in practical chores, you will have your dreams to console you, but you may have to complete essential jobs before having your share of pleasure.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
During the next few weeks, there will be occasions when you begin to realise that you rely on certain family members far more than you imagined only a short while ago. Today's stars put the spotlight on romantic purchases - on what you want, rather than what you think is necessary!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You now need to be a little more circumspect in very close personal partnerships. Two powerful romantic patterns are strengthened by another which encourages people at home to jump to hasty conclusions. You don't want to feed their suspicions, now, do you?

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Business associates will surely rue the day they ever decided to tangle with you. There is something to be said for letting others off the leash, releasing them from promises which they have outgrown. You might find that when they are no longer obliged to stick around, they do so voluntarily.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Those in positions of authority have had their say, but you have tended to exaggerate every little statement, seeing hidden meanings where there are none. Relax today, and above everything, try to enjoy yourself. After all, what is life if full of care - and devoid of pleasure?

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
More than anything else, you should finally silence those who have prevented you from living in the real world. Your inner fears and worries should now be replaced by an equally profound determination never to repeat the same mistakes again. Other people should understand just how strongly you feel.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It is probably too much for you to forgive those who have behaved badly, but you should still try. You may be partially responsible for personal troubles by mixing in the wrong company in the first place. After all, it takes two to tango, as they say.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
What happens now will almost certainly strengthen your bargaining power but, in reality, the need to think in such terms is now passing. Even today, conditions are beginning to look more co-operative, especially where financial interests are concerned.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
In many respects today's stars could hardly be more ideal, given the circumstances. You may take time out from long-term regrets and worries and have a little fun for a change. Indulge a fantasy for, if you don't, neither will anyone else. You may even encourage partners to loosen up a little!

REVOLUTIONISING HEALTHCARE

UTTAR PRADESH TRANSFORMING INTO A MEDICAL HUB

Uttar Pradesh government under the leadershipn of CM Yogi Adityanath has made healthcare an important focal point for development and is working round the clock to improve medical infrastructure. In order to become the 'medical hub' of new India, UP is working across various parameters to reform and develop modern healthcare facilities powered with skilled and experienced medical staff. From building medical colleges for every district to introducing new and relevant courses for paramedical staff, UP government is fast pacing towards a transformation of its medical sector.

"Under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the double-engine government is sensitive towards providing better health facilities to the common man, the poor, and the weaker sections. The result of this sensitivity is that today every district of the state is connected with a medical college. Along with the efforts of the government in providing better health facilities, the role of the private sector has also been important in this.

-Yogi Adityanath, Chief Minister

A NEW PARADIGM IN HEALTHCARE

The last six years have seen a significant change in the health and medical infrastructure in Uttar Pradesh. The CM Yogi Adityanath-led state government has been constantly working at improving medical education and health facilities in the state

ONE DISTRICT ONE MEDICAL COLLEGE SCHEME

Uttar Pradesh government has signed MoUs for 4 out of 16 districts in a record time of 1 year of its second term for medical colleges. This is a testimony to the potential for private investment the state has, with the correct policy measures.

Since 2017, the CM Yogi Adityanath-led governments dedicated efforts have helped in ensuring that PM Narendra Modi's vision of 'One District One Medical College' becomes a reality. The number of government medical colleges has increased from 13 to 27, with 14 more currently in process; and the number of private medical colleges has increased from 25 to 31.

An investment scheme for setting up medical colleges in unserved districts on public-private partnership mode was notified in September 2021, and the government has already signed concession agreements with four private partners to set up medical colleges in 4 districts Maharajganj, Sambhal, Mau and Shamli, in record time. UP also became the first state in India to receive in-principal approval of viability gap funding (VGF) from the Government of India to set up medical colleges in 6 districts on PPP mode. The private sector shall participate enthusiastically in the bidding process that is currently underway for these 6 districts. The government is also in the process of receiving VGF for 6 more districts in the state, from the Government of India.

TRAINING PROGRAMMES IN MEDICAL SECTOR

The Department of Medical Education has provided training to principals of state medical colleges as well as autonomous state medical colleges at Uttar Pradesh Academy of Administration and Management (UPAAM), Lucknow, to learn the Disciplinary Proceedings Rules. The Uttar Pradesh State Medical Faculty (UPSMF) also offers various certificate and diploma courses to improvise the quality of work of the professionals such as nurses and paramedical technicians.

The Department of Medical Education is now focusing on ramping up not just the number of seats in such courses but also improving the quality of education and ensuring that graduate students are readily employable and can compete in their respective skills in an improved healthcare system. This is being ensured through Mission Niramaya, launched in October 2022, focused on addressing the concerns in the nursing and paramedical sector.

AT UPGIS 2023

UPGIS 2023 created a brilliant platform for the medical education department to put forward its vision of working towards improving all key aspects of healthcare related education medical, nursing, and paramedical. The department also intends to set up paramedical Centres of Excellence in Jhansi and Kannauj districts and develop 11 nursing colleges under the existing medical colleges in Ambedkarnagar, Azamgarh, Ayodhya, Badaun, Bahraich, Banda, Basti, Firozabad, Jalaun, Saharanpur, and Shahjahnpur on PPP mode. Substantial interest has been received during the GIS across all these endeavours and the government is hopeful that it shall cement into official partnerships. The policy is currently in process. Establishing nursing colleges in 11 districts will add approximately 1100 highly trained nurses (assuming a batch size of 100 B Sc students) with international exposure to the states nursing workforce every year.

The four concession agreements that have already been signed with private partners to set up medical colleges in unserved districts, will add atleast 400 doctors to the medical workforce annually, and generate nearly 2600 jobs as direct employment once the medical colleges are operational. They shall also increase the bed availability by 100-200 beds in district. The presence of a medical college in these districts will bring specialised secondary care and tertiary care services closer to the citizens, reducing travel time for advanced treatment to nearby big cities.

MEDICAL TOURISM @UP

UP already has pioneer institutions in the state such as SGPGI, RML, KGMU, Lucknow and UPUMS, Saifai, which attract patients not only from neighbouring states like Bihar, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh, and Madhya Pradesh but also from neighbouring countries such as Nepal. It also has new hospitals coming up in Lucknow among many others that are the key drivers of medical tourism in the state.

In the long run, the state government endeavours to become a medical tourism hub and support other states in facing challenges of the shortfall of nursing and paramedical professionals by providing a highly skilled workforce with international exposure as well. Further, workforce for countries such as Japan with an increasing geriatric population can also be provided by Uttar Pradesh.

"Health facilities of the country are being improved by working together on six fronts preventive healthcare, opening small and modern hospitals in villages, opening medical colleges and big medical research institutes in cities, increasing the number of doctors and paramedical staff across the country, affordable medicines and equipment to patients, and using technology to reduce difficulties faced by them. The pace at which new medical colleges are opening up in UP will have a great impact on the number of medical seats and doctors. As a result, children of poor parents can also dream of becoming a doctor and fulfill it.

-Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

Ayushman Bhavah: PM-JAY

PM-JAY provides cover of Rs 5 lakh per family per year for secondary and tertiary care hospitalisation. To increase the reach of the Pradhan Mantri Jan Arogya Yojana (PMJAY) Ayushman Bharat Scheme, UP's health department has decided to intensify the incentive scheme.

The government has targeted to saturate the total eligible population and achieve the goal on board, hence the incentive scheme is being intensified. In UP, 2.9 crore cards have been made so far and more than Rs 2700 crore has been issued for treatment of beneficiaries under the scheme. Through Ayushman Bharat and Mukhyamantri Jan Aarogya Yojana, 9 crore beneficiaries receive health insurance cover in Uttar Pradesh.

AN ATM FOR HEALTH

District level hospitals in the state are getting health ATMs for conducting multiple basic tests for patients coming there. The purchase of health ATMs is being done by the Uttar Pradesh Medical Supply Corporation Limited (UPMSCL). Health ATMs are currently installed in marketplaces in the state capital and community health officers are deployed with them. The health ATMs are presently being supervised by doctors of PGI.

UP AS HUB FOR MEDICAL DEVICE MANUFACTURING

Uttar Pradesh is making rapid strides toward becoming the 'hub' of manufacturing medical devices. The Medical Device Park, set to be built on an area of 350 acres in Gautam Buddha Nagar, will not only manufacture medical devices but also create employment opportunities on a large scale. According to the data released by the Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority (YEIDA), a total of 59 plots, with each plot having an area ranging from 1,000 square meters to 4,000 square meters, have been allotted to companies manufacturing medical device equipment.

An aspirational vision

CM Yogi Adityanath is regularly reviewing the progress of works in 100 aspirational blocks in the state and has directed officials to expand health facilities in each such block through health ATMs and other medical facilities

CM Yogi Adityanath is keen on building a new healthcare system across Uttar Pradesh and is leaving no stone unturned. Closely monitoring development work in the 8 aspirational districts of UP, the state CM has directed concerned officials to review the quality of social welfare and development works being undertaken in each block.

UP government has identified 100 aspirational blocks and is taking up works on 75 indicators in the sectors of health and nutrition, education, sports, etc. Work is being rolled out through BC Sakhis, Gram Sachivalayas etc. Departments are holding workshops and training programmes in these blocks at regular intervals. CM Fellows, selected under a special one-year programme, have been appointed to help with monitoring and implementation in these blocks.

Mission Niramaya

REFORMING HUMAN RESOURCE IN HEALTH

Uttar Pradesh has been actively working towards improving the states healthcare ecosystem and launched Mission Niramaya in October 2022, a programme envisioned to improve the quality of pre-service education being imparted to nursing, midwifery and allied healthcare professionals

Mission Niramaya was launched in 2022 to enhance the quality of nursing and paramedical institutes in the state. The Uttar Pradesh State Medical Faculty (UPSMF) is designated as the primary coordinating body responsible for establishing effective mechanisms and protocols to coordinate the administrative and policy activities under Mission Niramaya.

This flagship programme aimed at ensuring high-quality clinical services within the state. This programme recognises the crucial role played by nursing and allied healthcare professionals. Mission Niramaya not only focuses on increasing access to healthcare education but also emphasises the importance of maintaining high standards of quality.

To execute the rating of nursing and paramedical colleges, UPSMF has collaborated with health partners. The framework comprised three major pillars of criteria:

1. Infrastructure
2. Teaching-Learning Process
3. Learning Outcomes

Such a transformative and holistic measure in the field of nursing and paramedical education has been implemented in the country for the first time. UPSMF has engaged QCI to assess and rate colleges.

The interactions taking place at colleges are recorded and livestreamed to a remote quality check team from QCI. A precursor to this step is the spot-check exercise which involves technical experts making surprise visits to randomly selected colleges and conducting assessments based on technical and non-technical parameters.

Draft reports are shared with each college, allowing them to view the allotted scores for each parameter and submit grievances within a specified time window. QCI teams holds one-on-one interactions with each college to address their grievances.

The Uttar Pradesh State Medical Faculty (UPSMF) is designated as the primary coordinating body responsible for establishing effective mechanisms & protocols to coordinate administrative and policy-related activities under the mission. To execute ratings of nursing and paramedical colleges, UPSMF has done collaborations

CONSUMER CONNECT INITIATIVE

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has written to Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya and assured to cooperate and collaborate with the Union Government to set up an All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) in Raichur. In his letter, Siddaramaiah said Raichur is an aspirational district of the Union Government and is covered under the special provision Article 371 (J) of Constitution

BJP-JDS ALLIANCE ON, BUT VOTE TRANSFER MAY NOT BE SIMPLE

Congress too may find it difficult to repeat its Assembly success in Lok Sabha elections

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

IN the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, Bharatiya Janata Party fought a united Congress-Janata Dal (Secular) (19+9) combine and still won 25 seats out of 28 in the state with a 52 per cent vote share. In 2014, BJP fought JDS and Congress, recording a vote share of 45 per cent as against Congress' 41 and JDS' 8-9 per cent.

This time, as political analysts hit the statistics book to see which way the 2024 polls will go, the BJP-JDS alliance looks like a winning combo, but only on paper. The two parties, which are said to have come to an understanding, could win a majority of votes only if votes are transferred from one party to another. But the 2019 Cong-JDS experiment showed that vote transfer is not as easy as assumed.

Political analyst BS Murthy said, "With JDS and BJP coming together, the era of Janata Parivar is back as the social configuration of Karnataka changes back to Vokkaligas and Lingayats. At the outset, the combo looks formidable as it can reach a vote share of 50% if it works on the ground. This could revive the relevance of JDS and increase the reach of BJP, which is looking for partners across the country."

The new combo could make Lingayats in BJP uncomfortable as the sole claimants of the party's core social base. JDS will now have to fight for 85 per cent votes as the minorities will never vote for the combination. In many areas in southern Karnataka, Lingayats who are with BJP and opposed to Vokkaligas could support Congress. In many Old Mysore areas, it would mean Vokkaligas vs the rest.

While Congress managed an impressive 43% vote share in the May 10 Karnataka Assembly elections, the big question is will it repeat the show in Parliamentary polls.

JDS, which vehemently denied any alliance with the saffron party just a day ago, is now saying it was stitched for its very political survival. The party may field Nikhil Kumaraswamy again.

Meanwhile, some insiders said that the coming together of BS Yediyurappa and HD Deve Gowda could spell difficult times for BJP National General Secretary (Organisation) BL Santosh.

This is because the alliance seems to have come about because of Yediyurappa.

> The alliance is inevitable for the survival of JDS. At the preliminary meeting held recently, almost all JDS leaders, including the legislators, favoured the alliance

HDK not against alliance: GTD

MYSURU: The JDS-BJP alliance for the LS polls is almost certain, with JDS MLAs and MLCs miffed with Congress, JDS MLA G T Devegowda said on Friday. He said 19 MLAs and 7 MLCs are upset with Congress action against JDS workers, including sending them to jail. They feel the need to ally with the BJP to fight the Congress, said Devegowda, who is JDS Core Committee chairman. People will soon revolt against the government as development works have taken a hit, he said. Clarifying that former CM H D Kumaraswamy is not against going with BJP, he said JDS has planned a show of strength in Bengaluru on September 10.

Tie-up will help us win 25-26 seats, says BSY

THE political future of Mandya's independent MP Sumalatha Ambareesh would be uncertain as the BJP backed her in the 2019 LS elections.

GT Devegowda, JDS core committee chairman, said in Mysuru, "The alliance is inevitable for the survival of the party (JDS). At the preliminary meeting held recently, almost all JDS leaders, including the legislators, favoured the alliance." Sources said JDS is likely to become part of the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance.

Yediyurappa has welcomed the development saying, "I am happy about Gowda Ji meeting our PM. BJP-JDS forging an alliance has been finalised as Shah has agreed to give four seats to JDS, and it will help us win 25-26 seats." However, JDS sources said the former PM spoke to Modi over phone.

"We should abide by whatever decision the Delhi leaders (the BJP high command) take. There might be differences, but it is natural in politics. We should welcome the decision of the PM and Shah," he said.

Bommai said BJP-JDS alliance talks are significant considering the importance of opposition parties in Karnataka uniting to fight against the Congress. "Our high command will decide on seat sharing," Bommai said. As the 2024 LS polls are crucial for BJP, the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), at a meeting held one-and-a-half months ago, deliberated on forging an alliance with JDS, according to sources.

However, union minister Prahlad Joshi in Hubballi said he had no information about the development, while former minister R Ashoka said, "Our central leaders called me up and clarified that no alliance has been forged," he added.

Not bothered: Siddu, DKS

"We (Congress) are not bothered about who will forge an alliance and contest independently, but we seek votes from the people as they are in favour of us," quipped CM Siddaramaiah. Dy CM DK Shivakumar on 'X' said: "Will be very happy if the BJP-JDS ally to face us in the LS polls. But I don't know how JDS will safeguard its ideology after the alliance. I don't know if the party will survive or not. I have no objection to their alliance. All the best to them."

Sudhakar meets HDK

Dr K Sudhakar, ex-MLA of Chikkaballapura, called on former CM and JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy on Friday. Sudhakar reportedly is interested in contesting the LS polls as the incumbent MP of Chikkaballapura Bache Gowda had turned averse to BJP itself. Bache Gowda hit out at JDS for going with an alliance with BJP as he termed the saffron party as 'communal'. His son Sharat Bache Gowda is Hosakote Congress MLA.

REVISITING WASTEWATER REUSE POLICY TO HELP B'LURU EVADE WATER CRISIS

CLIMATE change and rapid, unplanned urbanisation are converging in dangerous ways, resulting in two diametrically opposed but equally acute urban woes threatening Bengaluru: flooding and water scarcity. This was amplified in 2022 when the city experienced unprecedented flooding and disaster relief personnel had to be pressed into service to evacuate people trapped in their homes in some suburbs. At the same time, there was a Ground Report to say that Bengaluru was among 30 Indian cities that would face a grave water risk by 2050.

KIRAN MAZUMDAR-SHAW
Executive Chairperson, Biocon & Biocon Biologics and serves as an expert on Brand Bengaluru Task Force committee

The city's urban area has increased 10-fold in the last 50-odd years, making Bengaluru India's fourth largest city. Consequently, lakes have dwindled from around 280 in the 1960s to a mere 80 today. The complex interaction of land use changes with local ecosystems, hydrologic cycles and atmospheric circulation have modified the city's micro-climate. While rainfall intensity in Bengaluru has increased, most of the water is lost as runoff because of shrinking open spaces and disruption in storm water drains network. Therefore, flooding has become common.

Changing weather patterns, accompanied by encroachment and pollution of the city's lakes, have spelled doom for the delicate relationship between Bengaluru's lake-dependent communities and the water bodies that once nourished and sustained them.

What made Bengaluru remarkable is that it was not built on the banks of a major river. Nor was it connected to any major perennial water sources. The city depended instead on an interconnected system of tanks or lakes that harvested rainwater. The naturally undulating terrain allowed excess rainwater from lakes at a higher elevation to overflow into the lakes below through an ingenious network of storm water channels or raja kaluves. As these lakes were rain-fed and mostly seasonal, they operated in tandem with open wells, providing water to the city's many residents. In fact, this lake system was able to meet the city's entire water requirements even as late as the 1960s.

IN TROUBLED WATERS

Bengaluru is staring at an acute water crisis within the next decade. Currently, the demand for water for human consumption exceeds 2,100 million litres per day (MLD). Of this, ~1,470 MLD is supplied from the Cauvery River through the efforts of the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB). The deficit of 630 MLD is met through borewells and water tanker deliveries. By 2031, water demand is projected to jump to 5,340 MLD in the city to serve a projected population of over 20 million. Of this, 3,920 MLD will be needed for domestic use, according to the Revised Master Plan 2031 for Bengaluru.

The looming crisis calls for more inventive and currently unconventional methods of utilising water more effectively to safeguard the city's future against the adverse impacts of a changing climate and dwindling water supply.

LEVERAGING WASTEWATER

Wastewater can be classified into two categories: blackwater and greywater. While greywater comes from kitchen sinks, showers, and bathtubs, blackwater comes from toilets and sewers that carry human waste. As they have different levels of contamination, they must be treated differently. But once treated, wastewater can be purified and turned into drinking water, or used for agriculture, municipal water supply, industrial processes, and environmental restoration.

Although wastewater reuse is an established practice in various countries, it remains relatively underdeveloped in India. Inadequate underground sewage systems for transporting wastewater and a scarcity of Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) limit our country's capability to treat sewage. Only India's largest cities have centralized sewage systems, complete with underground pipes, pumping stations, and STPs. As a result, India treats a little more than a third of the sewage generated per day, according to the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB). Bengaluru generates 1,480 MLD of wastewater of which only 75% is collected and treated.

Local recycling of greywater can considerably reduce the load on the public sewage system and bring down freshwater consumption. If the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) can ask citizens to process segregated waste within their premises, they can also mandate local treatment of greywater.

The BWSSB targets to capture 100% of the wastewater generated in the city by 2025, and the BWSSB Vision Document 2050 talks about "advanced treatment technologies" for recycling wastewater to produce "high-quality water that exceeds drinking water standards."

REVISIT INDUSTRY REGULATIONS

To "reimagine wastewater as a water resource", as articulated in the 2050 Vision Document, we not only need technological advancements but also a comprehensive shift in industrial regulations regarding processed wastewater.

Acute water shortage in many areas of Karnataka is already hampering industrial production. By 2030, the state's industrial sector is projected to face a 69% gap between water demand and supply, according to Karnataka's Urban Wastewater Reuse Policy 2017.

The current policy prescribes water quality requirements for use in boilers, as cooling water, and for industrial processes in the pulp & paper, textiles, and petroleum & coal industries.

There is an urgent need to revisit existing regulations and policies on the acceptability of recycled wastewater in the processes of a wider category of industries. For instance, Singapore employs advanced treatment processes that yield treated water comparable in quality to fresh water from natural sources, which is then used in industries.

The biotechnology and pharmaceuticals sector, which relies heavily on substantial water supplies, stands to benefit significantly from such changes.

Technology has a key role in converting wastewater into high quality potable water fit for use as drinking water as well as process industrial water.

By enabling the utilization of recycled wastewater in critical industrial processes, regulations can play a crucial role in fostering sustainability, diminishing strain on freshwater reserves, and charting a course towards more prudent water management practices.

Establishing a resilient and efficient wastewater management system can go a long way in improving the liveability of Bengaluru and making it a model of sustainability for the rest of the country to emulate.

HC reserves order on Prajwal's plea

BENGALURU: The Karnataka High Court on Friday reserved the order on JDS leader Prajwal Revanna's plea seeking stay on the September 1 order declaring his election as Member of Parliament from Hassan null and void for indulging in corrupt practice, till he files an appeal before the Supreme Court challenging the verdict. Justice K Natarajan reserved the order after hearing the arguments of the senior counsels representing Prajwal and the petitioner Devaraje Gowda, on the interlocutory application filed by the former. While Prajwal's counsel pointed out the provisions of law for the stay of the order till the filing of the appeal, Gowda's counsel submitted that the order could not be stayed as already it was communicated to the Lok Sabha. After hearing the arguments, the court said that the order would be pronounced on Monday or Tuesday. ENS

BJP leaders reach KRS, slam govt for not protecting K'taka's interests

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

BJP leaders, including former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai, gather in front of the KRS reservoir in Mandya district on Friday | UDAYASHANKAR S

BJP on Friday protested against the state government for its failure to manage water resources, while asking it to stop the release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu. The government's failure to present its case effectively and exposing violations by Tamil Nadu, which has increased the irrigation area three-fold, forced Karnataka to release water. That increased the threat of water scarcity in Bengaluru, Mysuru and other towns, said BJP leaders during their visit to the KRS Dam.

An 11-member BJP team, led by former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai, visited the dam. They said the dam has 13 tmcft of water, while the state needs 18.5 tmcft to meet drinking water needs. Knowing that monsoon is not normal this year, the government should have held the irrigation consultative meeting in June, instead of August, and filled the tanks. That water could have been used to help farmers take up agricultural activities. The meeting in August was held after Tamil Nadu filed a petition seeking the release of water, they said.

BJP has decided to reach out to farmers and people of Cauvery basin for the government's failure to file a review petition on time, they said.

Bommai said irrigation officials stopped releasing water from KRS on Friday, knowing that the BJP team was inspecting the dam. The government failed to make its stand clear before the Cauvery Water Management Authority and had to release 62 tmcft of water instead of 37 tmcft to Tamil Nadu. But CM Siddaramaiah claims that the government has released 10,000 cusecs against TN's demand of 24,000 cusecs per day, he added. "We are not for politicising the Cauvery issue. We had to take up the cause as the government failed to protect farmer's interests," he added.

He said the government has given water to Tamil Nadu for Kuruvai crops for political reasons. There is no clarity between the CM and DyCM DK Shivakumar on the issue, he alleged.

Former Minister R Ashoka criticised the government for not allowing the media along with the BJP team, fearing that they would expose authorities, he added.

All eyes on Hariprasad's show of strength today

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

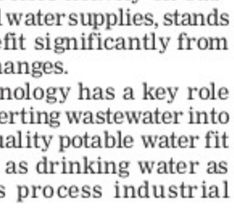
WITH former AICC general secretary and MLC BK Hariprasad calling a meeting of his Billava-Ediga supporters at Palace Grounds on Saturday, the Congress could be looking at a battle between two influential backward leaders — Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Hariprasad.

About 150-200 buses are ferrying supporters Dakshina Kannada and Udupi to Bengaluru. Sources said 'higher ups' in the government were closely watching developments in this show of strength by Hariprasad. Intelligence agencies, too, have been pressed into action to provide a blow-by-blow account of what is happening.

Hariprasad's followers will be seeking accountability of appointments and postings given to backwards by the present and previous governments. They will urge the Congress leadership to take note that backwards who supported the Congress have not received their due in the bureaucracy or ministry, although they account for about 35% of the electorate.

"Only three backwards figure in the ministry -- the CM, Byrathi Suresh and Madhu Bangarappa — compared to representation of major communities," Hariprasad's supporters say.

Sources in the high command said one or two non-performers are expected to be dropped, and Hariprasad is likely to be accommodated some time around Dasara or later, but well before the LS polls. Siddaramaiah's former media adviser Dinesh Amin Mattu admitted publicly that Hariprasad deserved to make the cut, and his inclusion would have helped the Congress consolidate its hold over the backward classes. Hariprasad's elevation as minister would mean he would take the role of leader of the House in the Council, where the Congress is short of numbers.



'NONE CAN RIDE ROUGHSHOD ME'

CHIKKAMAGALURU: Congress MLC BK Hariprasad said he did not agree with talk that he was politically downtrodden, and claimed nobody could ride roughshod over him. He was participating in a meeting of the district Brahmshri Narayana Guru Samaj Seva Sanghagala Okkoota on Friday. "Our power is in our hands. There is no use blaming the upper castes, if people of our community develop political awareness, they can avail all benefits in a democratic setup within the framework of the Constitution," he said. The government aims to provide facilities to tax-paying citizens, but powerful upper class people who are part of political parties grab government benefits, Hariprasad said. He said people from communities of larger populations — Billava, Arya, Ediga and Poojari — play a decisive role in the district, and micro communities will develop if political representation is given on the basis of their population.

Cong has lost moral right to remain in power: BSY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister and senior BJP leader BS Yediyurappa on Friday said Congress has lost the moral right to continue in power and BJP will fight against the government's anti-people policies. He said the party leaders will start a statewide tour from Kolar on September 16.

Addressing BJP workers during the protest demonstration against the State Government's alleged anti-farmer policies, Yediyurappa said corruption in the government is rampant and BJP leaders will fight against it across Karnataka. He appealed to the people to join the BJP's fight.

On Friday, BJP leaders protested in Bengaluru and other district headquarters. Yediyurappa said farmers are unable to use irrigation pumpsets as the government is not providing even 3 hours of power to them and all irrigation projects have been stopped. "Around 180 taluks in Karnataka are facing drought and people are not getting clean drinking water. There is a shortage of fodder. The government, however, is still dilly-dallying in declaring drought," he added.

Former CM Basavaraj Bommai said the government has deceived people in the name of guarantee schemes, which have not been implemented effectively.

LAW EQUAL FOR ALL: DR G

HUBBALLI: Hitting out at BJP for accusing the State Government of oppressing their right to protest, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara has said the law of the land is equal for all and whoever tries to break it, action will be taken. On BJP's allegations of corruption against the government, he said, "Let them protest... but people have taught them a lesson. If they fail to realise it, voters will once again teach them a lesson in the LS polls."

Electrician arrested for double murder of woman, minor son

Accused was enraged with the woman's relationship with another man

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE double murder of a 33-year-old woman and her 11-year-old son in Bagalagunte police limits has been solved with the arrest of the woman's 30-year-old paramour. The woman was a call centre employee and was staying with her son in Ravindranagar Gutta. After separating from her husband, she was allegedly in a relationship with the accused, who is an electrician.

As she got close to another man and had a relationship with him, the accused got furious and killed her, the police said. He also killed her son as he witnessed the murder. Before escaping, he left the gas stove on. The house owner, who got the strong gas smell, came to her house and saw that she and her son had been murdered, the police said.

The accused, Shekappa alias Shekar, is a resident of Kuvempunagar in Jalahalli. Navanitha and her son Sai Srujan were found murdered at their house on Tuesday. They were from Andhra Pradesh. The woman had separated from her husband Chandru over domestic issues. The woman's other son is studying at a residential school in Andhra Pradesh.

Apart from Shekappa, she had a relationship with Lokesh from Banashankari. Shekappa, who came to know about it, started fighting with her. He went to her house on Monday, and sent Srujan to bring milk. During the argument, he stabbed her to death. Srujan, who returned home, started screaming seeing his mother in a pool of blood.

> After killing the woman and her son, he (accused) left the house leaving the gas stove on, hoping that the house would catch fire and there would be no proof against him
>
> A police officer

"The accused then tied Srujan's hand and started strangling him, saying he would show a magic trick. After killing the woman and her son, he left the house leaving the gas stove on, hoping that the house would catch fire and there would be no proof against him. He had also placed the knife in her hand to make it look like a suicide. The accused is unmarried," said an officer, who is part of the investigation.

The Bagalagunte police registered the case and arrested the accused.

No stroke unit at Victoria; Nimhans only hope

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

STROKE is the fourth commonest cause of death in India after cancer, cardiac diseases and road accidents, yet there is little awareness and lack of appropriate medical facilities in government hospitals to help revive people during the golden hour – the first four hours after a stroke occurs. Stroke is the leading cause of lifelong disability, if not treated within the first four hours.

Despite being a major health concern, the top government hospital in Karnataka, Victoria Hospital in Bengaluru, does not have a stroke unit. A stroke patient brought to Victoria Hospital within the critical window period is rushed to Nimhans for emergency treatment. "On an average, we get two to three stroke patients per month during the golden hour. We rush them to Nimhans as it is the only government hospital with a fully equipped stroke unit. Around 95% of stroke patients who come to Victoria arrive way past the golden hour, largely because of no facilities and lack of awareness," Medical Superintendent, Victoria Hospital, Dr Deepak said. He added that the government has approved a stroke unit at Victoria in collaboration with Nimhans on a hub-and-spoke model basis, which is likely to come up "soon".

Stroke occurs when blood supply to the brain tissue is blocked by a blood clot (ischemic stroke), or when a blood vessel in the brain ruptures (hemorrhagic stroke), causing brain cells to die and leading to functional impairments.

"Although stroke remains a critical health issue, better management of cardiovascular risk factors, greater awareness of symptoms, and prompt medical attention prevent timely identification and treatment of stroke patients," said Dr Satish Chandra, adviser and senior consultant, Neurology, Apollo Hospitals, Jayanagar. He recently treated former CM HD Kumaraswamy, who was admitted at the hospital last week after a stroke. "He had come during golden hour. He had suffered an ischemic stroke because of which his speech was altered and his right arm was weak. We immediately attended to him and he was discharged on the fourth day of admission," he added.

He said stroke can be identified with four symptoms -- BE-FAST (loss of balance, eye focus, facial distortion, weakness in arms, alteration of speech and time). "If you notice any of these symptoms in a person occurring acutely, rush him to the nearest stroke ready hospital without wasting time. A stroke ready hospital has imaging equipment – MRI, CT Scan etc and an interventional neuroradiologist among other neuro specialists," he added.

Dr Chandra, who is also professor emeritus, National Academy of Medical Sciences, and former director and vice-chancellor, Nimhans, said that stroke can be prevented if the risk factors -- high blood pressure or hypertension, high cholesterol, diabetes, obesity, use of alcohol and nicotine and stress -- are taken care of and minimized. "Stroke is usually seen in patients above 60 years, but it can also happen to people in their early 40s. Once you cross 40, you should have regular medical health checkups. Stress has become a major health hazard. People should learn to de-stress and alter their lifestyles, have good healthy diet and 7-8 hours of sleep to live healthy and prevent stress. Yoga is a very useful technique to de-stress," added Dr Chandra.

New system will use AI to predict dengue cases

ENS @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA will be able to predict areas more prone to dengue better now, with the disease surveillance system launched here on Friday.

With the recent rise in dengue cases in the state, Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao unveiled the surveillance dashboard that will use AI to monitor cases. AI and Technology Park (ARTPARK) at IISc developed the dashboard in partnership with the health department and BBMP to develop predictive analysis for dengue, to assist policymakers and health officials, ensuring preparedness for outbreaks and managing disease control.

The dashboard will provide a map of outbreaks across Karnataka at the district and sub-district level along with case trends to draw comparison and analyse data. It will provide a four-week predictive risk map of outbreaks. Though the dashboard currently focuses on dengue outbreak, it will be expanded to analyse other diseases soon. Scientists have gathered previous years' data for dengue to create a streamlined system.

Rao also unveiled the PRISM-H (Platform for Integrated Surveillance and Management of Health) app to be used by healthcare workers.

Rohit Satish, director, Health Data Initiatives, ARTPARK, said a pilot project will be launched to study the functionality of PRISM-H. The health survey for fever/flu and larvae and spray surveys will be uploaded on the dashboard and studied to provide a predictive analysis.

Aindrita accuses cops of not probing cow slaughter; DCP clarifies

BENGALURU: Actor Aindrita Ray has accused the Bommanahalli police of not taking action against a truck driver for reportedly transporting suspected cow remains. She had made the accusations on X on Sept 6, which have been fact-checked by the police. She had tagged the DCP of South East division, city police commissioner and PM Narendra Modi, seeking action. DCP (South East) CK Baba clarified that the animal byproduct was not of a cow, and that it was being transported by a certified trader from the BBMP. The actor deleted the post on Friday after TNIE tried to contact her, and she did not respond. "A truck was transporting a load of suspected cow waste (bone, horns, legs) last night. Now the vehicle is in @bommanahalli_ps Police are refusing to investigate by lodging an FIR. @CPBlr @BlrCityPolice @DCPSEBCP register FIR and investigate. Cow slaughter is illegal. @narendramodi," was her post. People For Animals animal welfare officer Harish, on whose insistence Aindrita posted the message, said a local misguided them. ENS

Only God can save institution, judge rues closure of cases

R SIVAKUMAR @Chennai

CALLING closure of cases against political leaders when they come to power in Tamil Nadu as a systemic problem and failure, Justice N Anand Venkatesh of the Madras High Court on Friday lamented that 'Only God can save the institution'.

The judge, who is on a self-avowed mission to review the orders of trial courts discharging political leaders from graft cases, asked political leaders to face the trial and come out clean instead of attempting to get out of the cases by manoeuvring through the criminal justice system. "I have opened a can of worms and started looking into case after case," the judge declared.

On Friday, the judge ordered notice to the DVAC, sitting DMK minister I Periyasamy, and former minister B Valarmathi of the AIADMK on suo motu revision of their discharge from corruption cases.

Periyasamy was acquitted by a special court for MP/MLAs in connection with the case of allotting a housing plot in Chennai to Ganesan, a personal security officer of late leader M Karunanidhi, in March 2023.

The judge noted that Ganesan's undated application was processed in a breakneck speed and a G.O. was issued allotting him the plot 'within 96 hours' in 2008. Considering weekend holiday, the actual time taken was just '48 hours', the judge said, adding that Periyasamy has been committing 'grossest abuse of judicial process' by repeatedly filing discharge petitions.

It is shocking that the special court, which is expected to possess at least a working knowledge of criminal law and procedure, has entertained a petition under Section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act to discharge the accused knowing fully well that the provision did not deal with discharge at all, the judge said.

Chandy's historic win tribute to dad Oommen

ABHILASH CHANDRAN @Kottayam

The voters of Puthuppally have paid a final befitting tribute to their beloved Oommen Chandy. In a by-election where anti-incumbency coupled with an Oommen Chandy sympathy wave played a crucial role, UDF candidate Chandy Oommen recorded an astounding victory with a record margin of 37,719 votes.

In a keenly-watched electoral battle which could well be a prelude to the 2024 Lok Sabha election, Oommen defeated CPM's Jaick C Thomas with the second highest margin in the history of any assembly bypoll in the state. While Oommen secured 80,144 votes with a vote share of 61.17%, Jaick could ensure only 42,425 votes with 32.38% vote share. This is Jaick's third successive loss at Puthuppally.

Significantly, NDA candidate G Lijin Lal failed to showcase a noticeable fight, as the saffron party's votes dropped considerably compared to previous election. He could secure only 6,558 votes, against 11,694 votes in the 2021 assembly election. The vote share plummeted from 8.87% in 2021 to 5.01% this time.

Earlier, the counting was delayed by 10 minutes following some confusion over opening the strong room at Baselius College in Kottayam. Oommen will be sworn-in as MLA at the legislative assembly on Monday.

Modi acting against Constitution: Stalin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

CHIEF Minister MK Stalin on Friday charged Prime Minister Narendra Modi who began his tenure by adoring the Constitution as his Veda, has failed to walk the talk by acting against the Constitution and called upon people to oppose this.

"Modi, after assuming the office of the prime minister, bowed down before the Parliament and hailed the Constitution as his Veda. But after that, he has been acting against the Constitution. All sections of people should oppose this," the Tamil Nadu CM said.

He made these remarks while addressing the Media Meet 2023 organised by the Kerala Media Academy and Malayalee Associations of Chennai here. On the occasion, Stalin released the book - The Changing Mediascape - authored by BRP Bhaskar (91).

Referring to the contents of the book, the TN CM said the book has recorded the changes that took place since the times of print media. Speaking further, he said, "Tamil Nadu and Kerala should act as double-barrelled gun to ensure a dawn to the entire country. "Media should eschew false propaganda and function like the media during the freedom struggle," he added.

MAGUNTA SRINIVAS TURNS APPROVER IN DELHI LIQUOR SCAM?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Vijayawada

Lok Sabha MP Magunta Sreenivasulu Reddy has reportedly turned approver in the alleged Delhi liquor scam. The Enforcement Directorate, the central agency that investigated into the allegations of money laundering in the excise scam, had earlier arrested the YSRC leader's son, Raghava Reddy, who is currently out on bail.

While the Magunta family has been in the liquor business for decades, Raghava Reddy is the owner of Chennai-based liquor manufacturing units, Enrica Enterprises Pvt Ltd. The ED had mentioned that Raghava Reddy was a part of the alleged South Group.

Some of the accused, including Telangana-based businessman P Sarath Chandra Reddy, turned approvers in the case. It may be noted that the ED had arrested Sarath Chandra, later released on bail.

According to sources, the probe agency had reportedly questioned Sreenivasulu in March in connection with the alleged scam and had stumbled upon crucial information. However, the MP had denied the involvement of his or his family members in the case.

However, it has been learnt that the MP has agreed to cooperate with the investigation and share all information he has regarding the scam. The ED is reportedly of the view that the MP's statement will act as evidence against AAP leaders who benefitted from the scam.

TRICK IS KNOWING THE SOCIAL NUANCES OF SANATANA DHARMA

Tamil Nadu sports minister Udhayanidhi Stalin set off a national political storm this week after BJP leaders picked upon his speech against Sanatana Dharma at a conference on annihilating it. Udhayanidhi, son of DMK president and chief minister M K Stalin, said that Sanatana Dharma should be eradicated just as mosquitoes, dengue and Covid should be. In Tamil Nadu, this rhetoric hardly raised eyebrows. It is the known stance of the DMK and some of its political and ideological allies. The BJP, which has a tiny footprint in TN, has repeatedly targeted the DMK as anti-Hindu. However, the criticism has only found favour among the party's sympathisers as the DMK, since its foundation, has stepped away from the harsher criticisms of religion and caste espoused by the Dravidar Kazhagam and Periyar. In TN, it is understood that the eradication of Sanatana Dharma is a call against a conservative and orthodox form of Hinduism which enshrines caste and restricts the rights of women and marginalised communities.

The BJP nonetheless took the opportunity and spun the speech as an instance of hate against Hindus at rallies in Rajasthan and other parts of north India. The speech was wielded against the newly formed INDIA alliance, of which the DMK is a key constituent. Although Udhayanidhi remained unapologetic, other members of the alliance were clearly discomfited by the controversy, which gave the upper hand to the ruling party. Their disparate reactions reinforced the perception of the parties as a motley crew united only by their opposition to the BJP. Meanwhile, the DMK has not backed down from its stance but has taken pains to challenge the false allegation by BJP's Amit Malviya that Udhayanidhi called for genocide.

However, the question arises as to whether the BJP might be boxing itself into a corner by equating Sanatana Dharma with Hinduism. While Hindus elsewhere might be unaware of southern India's history of challenging Sanatana Dharma and Brahminical hegemony, they may not see the practice of their faith as confined by one particular tradition. There is also the possibility that oppressed communities might find this view of their religion as one that leaves no room for them and their beliefs, thereby reinforcing the perception of the BJP as an upper-caste party. A perception that the party and the prime minister have successfully challenged over the past decade.

ASIA CUP SHEMOZZLE COULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED

The ongoing Asia Cup is turning into an event of bickering and squabbles with more drama off the pitch than on it. This was inevitable the moment the Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) was announced as the host last year. India refused to go to Pakistan on security grounds and that triggered a bitter turf war between the Indian cricket board (BCCI) and the PCB. Finally, the "hybrid model" was accepted and Sri Lanka was chosen as the favoured destination for India and its matches. As the co-host, Pakistan would be hosting four matches, with the remaining to be shared between Pallekele and Colombo. What made matters more complicated is the season in which Sri Lanka is hosting the matches—it is still monsoon (when the island's west coast and hills get rain). All three matches in Pallekele were affected by rain, and the India-Pakistan game was washed out. With more predictions of rain in Colombo, the threat of a match being abandoned remains. The PCB wanted to change the venue (to drier Hambantota) and even claimed that its request to the Asian Cricket Council (ACC) was agreed to but was shelved without the PCB's knowledge at the last moment. Though shifting venues would have been ideal, doing it midway through a tournament is not prudent. Sri Lanka doesn't have too many venues and it needs time to prepare one. For fans who are travelling, this could be a nightmare. To solve the matter quickly, the ACC has kept a reserve day (September 10, Sunday) for the Asia Cup 2023 Super Fours match between India and Pakistan, sparking another controversy. This will be unfair to the other teams who are featuring in the Super Fours, where the top two teams qualify for the final.

The entire episode seems absurd and could have been avoided if all stakeholders had taken into consideration the weather before finalising the venues. The PCB and ACC should have communicated better instead of blaming each other. Rather than thinking about only one or two nations, the ACC—as the umbrella organisation for cricket in the continent—should be fair to everyone. In a bid to normalise the cricketing ties ahead of hosting Pakistan for the World Cup in India, a BCCI party comprising president Roger Binny and vice-president Rajiv Shukla visited Pakistan following PCB's invitation last week. Perhaps it's time to keep politics aside and concentrate on the sport.

QUICK TAKE

CARING CAPACITY

The Centre asks the SC to direct the 13 Himalayan states to study their carrying capacity—population an area can sustain without environmental degradation. It's aimed at avoiding landslides and other disasters that created havoc this monsoon season. The Centre must know better. Climate change, not just unruly weather, grips the region, signalling a big-picture approach. Carrying capacity is just one aspect. Take unregulated tourism. Nearly 10 crore tourists visited Uttarakhand in 2022, while thrice the carrying capacity of pilgrims visit 'dhams' annually. The required infrastructural backup is damaging. Ongoing mega infrastructural projects or black carbon emissions harming glaciers also test our caring capacity.

The alliance needs a simple, common agenda that appeals to the people as meaningful, doable and beneficial. It shouldn't be long and convoluted like the 2019 Congress manifesto

MODI COMBATIVE, OPPOSITION MUST LOOK CONVINCING

K M CHANDRASEKHAR

Former Cabinet Secretary and author of As Good as My Word: A Memoir

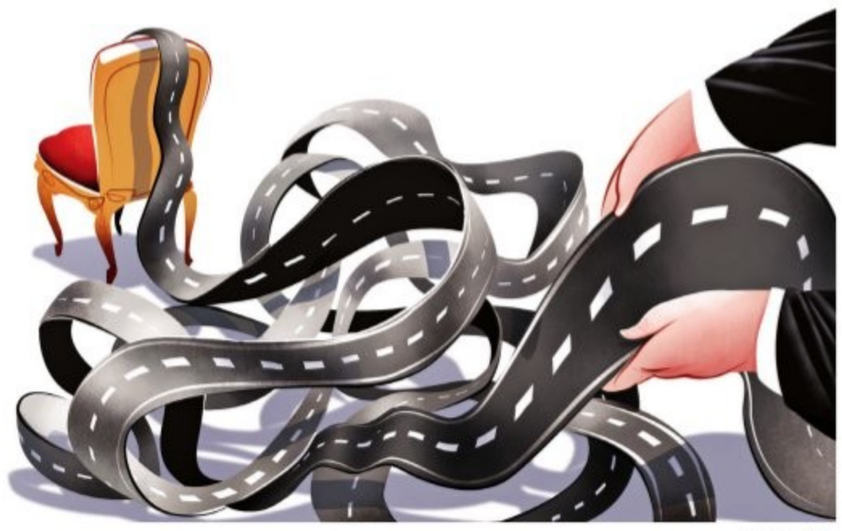
In 2004, I was lunching with the American Ambassador to the World Trade Organisation, Linnet Deily, in a lovely restaurant overlooking the lake in Geneva. It was just before the Indian election. At that time, it was considered that it would be virtually a walkover for the Vajpayee government. I told her that I had my doubts. The elections in the past year in different parts of the country had thrown up results in favour of the Congress and diverse regional parties. In the national elections, the UPA won and Manmohan Singh became prime minister. Linnet told me later that she marvelled at my prescience because I was the only one at that time who had expressed doubts about the NDA coming back to power. I had said the same to the then cabinet secretary, Kamal Pande, on a visit to Delhi. Diplomatically, he smiled.

Now that the general elections are not too distant, opinion surveys are in full swing. India Today, together with CVoter, has come out with its Mood of the Nation poll, which shows that Modi appears to occupy the pole position, with 52% naming him as the best candidate for PM and 63% indicating that his performance has been good or outstanding. Interestingly, an Outlook opinion poll in 2004 had placed Vajpayee in pole position, with 58% in his favour. According to the present poll, the BJP, on its own, could win 287 seats, while the INDIA bloc could secure 193 seats.

In 2004, India Today had predicted in its opinion poll shortly before the elections: 282 for BJP, 165 for the Congress-led alliance, and 96 for others. Of course, it is still too early to make predictions now as several months remain before the 2024 elections.

Both in 2004 and 2023, the prime minister was and is the focus of the BJP strategy. As Prabhu Chawla wrote in India Today on March 22, 2004, "Atal was both the message and the messiah. If the BJP brand managers have their way, an Atal visual and his name will have appeared more than 100 million times by the time the last vote is cast. His name will appear on almost every public vehicle and, from every road crossing, Vajpayee's hands will reach out for a vote."

For the last five years, the BJP's strategy has also been to focus on building the image of Modi. No minister, no officer spoke of any achievement of the government without attributing it to Modi. His image appeared on every street corner, in all government advertisements, and even on Covid-19 vaccination certificates. Every social welfare measure was attributed to his munificence.



SOUMYADIP SINHA

The other similarity is that, in 2004, the NDA launched a huge "India Shining" campaign, which resembles the development mantra that is favoured presently. In the last few years, the Central government has managed to appropriate a much larger share of national revenues and has increased public debt substantially, facilitating expansion and multiplication of Central schemes, not giving enough room to states to fashion development policies according to their specific needs. This is undoubtedly a regression from the basic principles of a federal democracy. In a state like Kerala, for instance, the Jal Jeevan scheme has no takers because most households have wells from which they can draw water. Likewise, Kerala has long gotten rid of open defecation and toilets are of no great value. The lack of flexibility in such schemes makes them virtually redundant in some states. Federalism and decentralisation have clearly taken a back seat, both on the economic front and politically, despite the early proclamations of the formation of Team India. The Centre wants to be seen exclusively as the saviour of the people, with the states seriously hamstrung by limited vertical devolution of resources and strong curbs on their borrowing capacity.

The big difference between then and now is that several opposition parties have combined to form an alliance well before the election. So far, this alliance has been slow off the blocks. The recent meeting in Mumbai seems to have given it some momentum with the formation of a coordination committee that has the authority to make decisions if there are differences between parties over seat allocation. The presence of Sharad Pawar in the committee as a senior statesman will help resolve conflicts.

Instead of looking warily at each other, the opposition parties need to unite wholeheartedly to form an irresistible force. In state elections, panchayat elections, and even society elections, they should give up the practice of going hammer and tongs at each other as they presently do. Also, they need a simple, common agenda that appeals to the people as meaningful, doable and beneficial. The agenda should not be long, dreary and convoluted like the Congress manifesto of 2019.

There are areas which they can exploit, like corruption and highhandedness in the lower bureaucracy, unleashed by the excessive use of Central investigative and regulatory agencies, unemployment, inflation and the tilt towards the corporate sector in macro-level economic policy. Tribal warfare on communal lines has dismembered Manipur, bulldozers have razed the houses of the poor in some other states, and mutual animosity between communities is noticeably growing. The judiciary and the Constitution are seen to be under threat, laws which undercut democracy are being imposed, and there is a clear sense of alienation among some sections of society. And there is always the possibility of unanticipated events and advancement of the elections.

Indeed, the unexpected decision to convene a Parliament session in the third week of this month and the appointment of a committee headed by former President Ram Nath Kovind has led to speculation that not only will the elections be advanced but that state elections will be held simultaneously with the national elections, a sharp deviation from practices followed in other federal countries like the US, Canada and Australia.

Does the opposition realise they are running out of time? And perhaps also that the NDA has a huge financial advantage over them, which will give the former the wherewithal to fight both the Lok Sabha and state elections, with support from large sections of the media. Will INDIA's strategy and agenda be further delayed? Will they be able to reach out to voters early enough?

INDIA MUST GUARD ITSELF FROM TERROR'S NEW GAMES

V VIJAYASAI REDDY

MP, Rajya Sabha, and Leader, YSRCP Parliamentary Party

Pakistan is on fire. There's tremendous political instability, with former Prime Minister Imran Khan back in prison. And this is not all. Afghanistan is again on the boil; things have gone from bad to worse ever since Kabul fell to the Taliban in August 2021. There are public executions and people are being stoned to death. Terror is acquiring new hues and severely impacting India's strategic location vis-à-vis Islamabad and Kabul.

There are serious threat perceptions of terrorism emanating from the region. This is a theatre of great-power politics that started when Washington launched its Global War on Terror in the early 2000s. New Delhi must perpetually be on alert.

India, for the record, has always tried to help. Thanks to the presence of the US security forces in Kabul, India—as an influential actor in the region—had more than 500 projects between 2001 and 2021 spread across 34 provinces in Afghanistan, and provided more than $3 billion in aid during this period. And more than 60,000 Afghan students have completed their studies in India in the last 16 years. But this will all come to naught, for the Taliban is ruthless and so is its agenda.

New Delhi has called on the Taliban to sever ties with Al-Qaeda and dismantle terror supply chains. India also expressed support for a democratic and peaceful Afghanistan. But that has not happened. A terrorist attack on August 26, 2021, at the Hamid Karzai International Airport in Kabul killed some 200 civilians and nearly a score of military personnel. And when the Islamic State Khorasan Province (ISKP) owned up to the attack, New Delhi's fears about the proliferation of terror hubs in Afghanistan were reinforced. So, the bottom line is clear: terrorism is a serious regional problem and India must build bridges with its partners and devise serious counterterrorism plans.

India has always urged the international community to ensure that Afghanistan is not used as a base to launch terror attacks on another country, or as a shelter or a financier. India particularly hinted at Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) and the Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM). At the G20 Extraordinary Summit on Afghanistan in October 2021, PM Narendra Modi urged the G20 nations to seek accountability from the Taliban on the basis of Resolution 2593. The Taliban was urged to not support other terror outfits and become a security provider in the region instead.

New Delhi has often drawn flak from the Western powers for engaging with the Taliban multiple times in the last two decades. There is some serious reputational damage that such engagements can cause to the goodwill that India enjoys. And it also raises concerns about India's own principled positions and red lines with regards to engaging with a terrorist group.

AP

> Pakistan is yet to show sincerity in delivering justice to the families of the 26/11 terror attack victims. The actions of the Pakistani military against former PM Imran Khan have raised concerns that Islamabad is unable to control its internal turmoil

So, that is all about Afghanistan and the perils of engaging with the Taliban-ruled country. And now, there is a bigger threat from next door: Pakistan, a politically unstable nation constantly fermenting trouble for its benevolent neighbour, India.

In its annual report for 2022, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) said cross-border terrorism funded by Islamabad has not abated, with Pakistan still using "hostile and manufactured propaganda" to demonise India and draw attention away from its own political and economic problems.

But New Delhi has, time and again, expressed that India wants to have cordial ties with Pakistan, and consistently maintained that any disputes should be settled amicably in an environment devoid of terror and hostility. But it has not worked. "Pakistan continues to engage in hostile and fabricated propaganda to vilify India, and to divert attention from its domestic political and economic failures." the MEA stated.

New Delhi must be on high alert when it comes to its next-door neighbour Islamabad. But Pakistan is not listening; it is not even agreeing that there is a growing recognition among many nations that Jammu and Kashmir is fundamentally an internal concern for India. In short, Pakistan is just not listening to India, the United States or any other nation that it needs to stop feeding terror on its soil. As a result, there has been no let-up in Pakistan's cross-border terrorism, infiltration and illegal smuggling of arms into India across the Line of Control (LoC).

Worse, Islamabad is yet to show sincerity in delivering justice to the families of the 26/11 Mumbai terror attack victims. Furthermore, the actions of the Pakistani military against former PM Imran Khan have raised concerns that Islamabad is unable to control its internal turmoil.

And see what India has done to usher peace: New Delhi has constantly emphasised the need for Pakistan to take credible, irreversible, and verifiable measures to eliminate cross-border terrorism. But it has not worked. India wants normal neighbourly relations with Pakistan, and the onus is on the latter to create such a conducive environment. Terror threats have messed up everything—trade, connectivity and people-to-people exchanges.

India has been trying to bring peace for a long time now. But Pakistan is not keen to play ball, with Islamabad constantly moving the goalposts to distract the global community from its internal strife. The diversion of jihadi fighters and proxy groups from Pakistan and Afghanistan to Kashmir threatens to increase violence along the border. If another 2008-style attack—it killed 164 people in Mumbai, India's financial capital—is carried out by terrorists from Pakistan, there could be a severe military confrontation between two nuclear-armed states.

The world must know that South Asia is the epicentre of terrorism and New Delhi is trying hard to ensure peace. It is not an easy task.

One election

Ref: Why 'One Nation, One Election' won't work (Sept 8). The concept of 'One Nation, One Election' involves not only practical challenges but also complex legal and constitutional considerations. Our Constitution prescribes fixed terms for various legislative bodies, making the harmonisation of their election schedules a constitutional matter. It also necessitates cooperation and consensus among states, each of which have their own unique political dynamics.

Naidu's notice

Ref: Curious timing of I-T notice to TDP's Naidu (Sept 8) is balanced overall, but it shouldn't have called his undisclosed income of ₹118 crore as not "staggering enough" since it isn't a small amount. To term the timing of the I-T notice as "curious" isn't right since the Constitution/Election Commission hasn't imposed any specific guidelines in such cases.

Toy train

Ref: Come October 1, Kalka-Shimla toy train to be back on British-era track (Sept 8). Despite the majestic scenery the track runs through, the terrain often falls prey to nature's fury. That so much work has been undertaken owing to the prompt action of the Railways is praiseworthy. Restoration and retrofitting work is always a difficult and time-consuming affair, more so if it is a UNESCO Heritage Site.

Aluva crime

Ref: 8-year-old girl abducted, sexually assaulted in Aluva (Sept 8). The grave reality in Kerala is that heinous crimes against hapless girls are on the rise as is evident from the latest incident. Fortunately, the victim was not brutally killed like in the July incident, which shocked the conscience of all Keralites. Legislation that awards the maximum capital punishment for such heinous crimes will cleanse our society.

Protecting children

I condemn the abduction and sexual assault of the eight-year-old girl in Aluva. Such acts are increasing and must be met with swift action. Protecting children and ensuring their safety are the top priorities for society.

Toddlers' education

Ref: Play time no study time (Sept 8). It's true that play time is not study time. The Gujarat HC's ruling that sending toddlers below three to preschools is illegal should be taken seriously by all parents in India. The NEP has clearly laid down the 5+3+3+4 formula.

'Beginning of new world order'

PM Modi stresses that India's G20 Presidency is inclusive, decisive and action-oriented

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

ON the eve of the commencement of G20 Summit on Saturday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, while outlining the expected outcomes of the meet, stated that the G20 would chart a new path toward 'human-centric' and inclusive development. Just hours before his meetings with the US President and other foreign dignitaries for bilateral discussions on Friday, Modi announced that he would be chairing sessions on 'One Earth, One Family' and 'One Future,' covering a wide range of issues.

Taking to X (formerly Twitter), shortly after the arrival of British PM Rishi Sunak along with his India-born wife Akshata Sunak, Modi expressed his anticipation of a fruitful summit to collaboratively work towards a better planet.

Subsequently, he remarked, "India is delighted to host the 18th G20 Summit on September 9 at New Delhi's iconic Bharat Mandapam. This marks the first-ever G20 Summit hosted by India. I look forward to productive discussions with world leaders over the next two days," he said.

Quoting Mahatma Gandhi's mission, the PM further stated, "India places great emphasis on a human-centric approach to progress. It is essential to emulate Gandhi's mission of serving the underprivileged, especially those at the very end of the queue." He also mentioned that he would be chairing discussions on various issues, including the promotion of strong, sustainable, inclusive, and balanced growth.

"We aim to accelerate progress toward Sustainable Development Goals, the Green Development Pact for a Sustainable Future, and strengthening multilateral institutions for 21st century," the Prime Minister said, adding that "Collectively, we will work towards furthering gender equality, empowering women, and ensuring world peace."

Elaborating on the essence of India's G20 Presidency theme, the PM stated, "Rooted in our cultural ethos, India's G20 Presidency theme 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam — One Earth, One Family, One Future' deeply resonates with our worldview that the entire world is one family."

Nitish, Mamata, Stalin to attend Prez dinner, no invite to Kharge

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AFTER it emerged that Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge has not been invited to the G20 dinner hosted by President Droupadi Murmu on Saturday, chief ministers belonging to the Opposition-ruled states — Mamata Banerjee, Arvind Kejriwal, Nitish Kumar, and MK Stalin, confirmed their presence.

Kharge is leader of the Opposition in the Rajya Sabha and enjoys the cabinet minister rank.

The Kharge episode came after the President described her position as 'President of Bharat' that led to a INDIA-versus-Bharat row. Congress MP Rahul Gandhi said at a presser in Brussels that the government "does not value the leader of 60% of India's population."

All Cabinet and state ministers and all CMs, including opposition-ruled states, have been invited to the event, which will be attended by several world leaders and other dignitaries.

However, several Opposition chief ministers have expressed their inability to attend the dinner citing pre-scheduled engagements. Except for Himachal Pradesh CM Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu, other CMs from Congress-ruled states are unlikely to attend. Sources told this newspaper that Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan will not attend the dinner on account of pre-scheduled programmes. Vijayan will be traveling to Delhi on September 15th for party engagements, his office said.

The CMs of Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, and Odisha CM are also unlikely to attend the dinner. While sources in Telangana CM K Chandrasekhar Rao's office confirmed that he would not attend the dinner, Andhra Pradesh CM Jagan Mohan Reddy is on a foreign tour. Karnataka CM Siddaramaiah's office said he would not attend the dinner. It is unlikely that Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot and Odisha CM Naveen Patnaik would attend.

HEARD IN THE CORRIDOR

Biden arrives, spreads cheer

US President Joe Biden was in great spirits on his arrival in New Delhi. When minister VK Singh welcomed him, Biden thanked him with a wide smile. During the chat that followed, he was seen bursting into laughter many times. Then he spotted an unusual guest — US ambassador to India, Eric Garcetti, had brought along his daughter. Biden hugged the girl and quite affectionately asked her how she was doing, upon which she replied, "Very nice, sir." "He displayed a great sense of humour, making all of us laugh. He made us feel as if we were old acquaintances," said an official.

IMF chief shakes a leg at arrival

The global leaders arriving for the summit in New Delhi are being welcomed by traditional Indian dance performances by various troupes. When IMF chief Kristalina Georgieva arrived, the cultural team showcased a traditional folk dance to the tunes of a Sambalpuri song. A smiling Georgieva danced to the beat of the music at the airport. Prime Minister Modi said he appreciates the affection she has shown for India's culture when she landed here.

I am a proud Hindu, says Sunak

Union minister Ashwini Choubey greeted British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak with a "Jai Siyaram." Choubey, introducing himself, said he hailed from Bihar's Buxar, where Lord Ram and Laxman killed the demon Tadka. "O great! That's so much pious to hear," Sunak remarked. He was informed that he had come to his 'sasural' (in-laws' home) and his wife was 'Bharat ki beti' (India's daughter). Choubey gifted him a garland of rudraksha, a copy of Bhagwat Gita and a copy of Hanuman Chalisa. "I am a proud Hindu," Sunak later remarked, pointing to his roots.

On the menu: Pearl Peas Soup

As the G20 Summit unfolds in all its glory, the Ashok's Culinary Team has embarked on an exciting journey of culinary innovation. The dedicated chefs have meticulously crafted a range of unique recipes for the distinguished dignitaries. The team has developed extraordinary recipes such as pearl peas soup, jowar anjeer ke kofte, falafel in pita pockets served with hummus, grilled salmon in south Indian style curry leaf marination, bao (steamed buns with exotic fillings) and amaranth jalebi with thandai rabdi.

Garden of garlands at Lutyens' Delhi

Trees lining the roads leading to the G20 venue Bharat Mandapam and the delegates' hotels have been decorated with garlands of yellow flowers. More than 1,000 quintals of flowers were brought in for this, sources said. Lutyens' Delhi resembles a big colourful garden with thousands of garlands made of marigold, chrysanthemum, daisy and asparagus mary. About 20 flower boards are displayed at the venue with the G20 logo and slogan 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam — One Earth, One Family, One Future'.

GENDER MAINSTREAMING IN ANTI-CORRUPTION INITIATIVES

DHARITRI PATNAIK
Chief Coordinator W20 India

CORRUPTION is a moral crisis that erodes the pillars of governance, hampers development, and erodes public trust. Corruption has long been approached as a "gender-neutral" subject, but increasingly, the fact that women and men have distinctly differing experiences of corruption is gaining attention. The implications of corruption are far-reaching, affecting both men and women, but women bear a disproportionate burden. Corruption is not a standalone issue. Instead, it is intertwined with gender dynamics, perpetuating inequality and reinforcing power imbalances. Adopting an intersectional perspective will ensure that gender is effectively mainstreamed and that nobody is left behind.

Applying a gender perspective to anti-corruption requires consideration of how corruption affects women and men differently, directly and indirectly. Empirical evidence shows that societies with gender inequalities have higher levels of corruption. This is rooted in the unequal distribution of power, resources and opportunities, which may lead to different levels of exposure to corruption. Women are excluded from decision-making processes and economic activities, their voices are silenced, and their needs are often overlooked, leading to a lack of transparency and accountability.

Gendered corruption impacts public and essential services, putting women's lives and well-being at risk. From education, healthcare, politics and many other spheres, we witness the unequal treatment of men and women.

W20 is an official engagement group of G20 whose primary objective is to ensure that gender considerations are mainstreamed into G20 discussions and translated into the G20 Leaders Declaration as policies and commitments that foster gender equality. W20 has aligned its work with the Sustainable Development Goals and works with various stakeholders, including women and men from all walks of life-from remote tribal villages to urban areas.

During India's G20 Presidency, W20 India has conducted over 200 Jan Bhagidaari programs (Citizen's Connects) across 15 states of India and globally through online webinars, reaching 80,000 women directly. An action-oriented Digital skilling Initiative has also been initiated to train one million women and girls over the next three years. W20's created a First Respondent Framework and a Compendium on Women-Led Development. W20 worked with twenty-one knowledge partners comprising grassroots organisations and global consultancies. The five priority areas derived from India's Prime Minister's vision and the earlier work of W20 include women's leadership at the grassroots level, entrepreneurship for small and medium enterprises, education and skill development, bridging the gender digital divide and making women and girls as eco change-makers in climate change.

As advocates for change, W20 is responsible for championing transparency, accountability, and ethical conduct at all levels of society. It is our responsibility to ensure that everyone, regardless of gender, enjoys equal access to opportunities, resources, and the freedom to make choices that shape their destiny. By dissecting how corruption perpetuates and exacerbates gender inequalities, we move closer to dismantling the systemic barriers that impede progress.

Renowned philosopher Sri Aurobindo said, "No words, act." But the world is full of words and little action. We must move beyond discourse and take concrete steps to eradicate corruption and empower women.

W20 shall continue its active engagement with the G20 members to reinforce and accentuate specific recommendations that the G20 governments and civil societies can consider and implement to reinforce their commitment to deepening their understanding of gender and corruption and including the gender perspective in their anti-corruption programmes and policies. G20 countries should ensure equal and meaningful participation of women at all levels while strengthening women's involvement in developing gender-sensitive anti-corruption policies and measures and assessing gender equality in the public recruitment processes and their representation at higher-level posts.

G20 members should also enhance their research and knowledge base on the issue of gender and corruption and analyse gender-disaggregated data. Capacity building and training programme modules should be introduced in the education system to sensitise the next generation about the gendered impact of corruption. To make the systems fair and more transparent, G20 members can work towards exploring and implementing gender-sensitive initiatives related to the digitalisation of service delivery, public procurements, whistleblower protection, etc.

Engagement Groups such as W20, C20, T20, and B20 would continue to partner with G20 members to support their policy discussions and implementation initiatives. These groups should further strive to advance gender equality and women's empowerment in fighting corruption in all sectors and raise awareness on how corruption impacts men and women differently by assessing the gendered impacts of corruption in various governmental and private sectors. The engagement groups should also initiate digital and anti-corruption training programs at the grassroots level.

The fight against corruption and gender inequality is not merely a moral obligation but essential for progress. By addressing corruption's gendered impact, we can break the vicious cycle that perpetuates inequality and aim to contribute towards more gender-sensitive anti-corruption initiatives and policies. It is time for G20 members to build up on the work done by all the stakeholders on the subject of 'Gender Mainstreaming in Anti-Corruption Initiatives' and come out with some concrete deliverables addressing the issues related to gender and corruption.

DURING INDIA'S G20 PRESIDENCY, W20 INDIA HELD OVER 200 JAN BHAGIDAARI PROGRAMMES ACROSS 15 INDIAN STATES AND GLOBALLY THROUGH ONLINE WEBINARS. AN ACTION-ORIENTED DIGITAL SKILLING INITIATIVE HAS BEEN INITIATED TO TRAIN ONE MILLION WOMEN AND GIRLS OVER THE NEXT THREE YEARS

Political satirist Ajit Ninan dies in Mysuru at 68

PARAMITA GHOSH @ New Delhi

POLITICAL cartoonist Ajit Ninan was best known for drawing the Centrestage series of cartoons in the India Today magazine. Ninan's pen and the steady stream of political cartoons and caricatures that flowed from it, have finally been set aside with his passing away in Mysuru on September 8.

Ninan's humour was gentle but incisive —he knew how to take aim, but it was never for the low. From Indira Gandhi to Vajpayee to Narendra Modi, few prime ministers have escaped his caricature but the style was always impartial.

Ninan also got a recall each time cartoonists faced government ire. His cartoon of a jail inmates doubling up in laughter while looking at a drawing of a jailer in underwear with the accompanying caption, "Never put a cartoonist behind bars" was a comic benchmark.

SHOOTERS HELD

Anti-Gangster Task Force (AGFT) of Punjab Police in coordination with central agencies have arrested three absconding shooters working for gangster Sonu Khatri while they were trying to flee the country, an official said.

VOTE SHARE IN %
Congress: 61.38
CPM: 32.49 Others: 6.13

WINNER: Chandy Oommen, (Congress)

RUNNER-UP Jaick C Thomas (CPM)

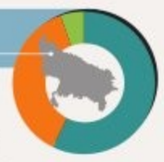
The result conveys sympathy among the voters for late chief minister Oommen Chandy who held the seat for over half-a-century. At a distant third, the BJP has again failed to win the trust of voters in Kerala. The result of contest in the politically hyperactive seat, assumed extra significance as it came just months before the Lok Sabha election.

Ghosi, Uttar Pradesh



VOTE SHARE IN %
SP-57.19
BJP-37.54 Others-5.27

WINNER: Sudhakar Singh Samajwadi Party (SP)

RUNNER-UP Dara Singh Chauhan (BJP)

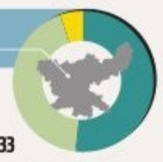
It was a direct contest between the BJP and the SP as Congress and the Left had extended support to the SP, while Mayawati kept away from the poll. The SP victory is being perceived as the validation of party chief Akhilesh Yadav's PDA (Pichhda, Dalit, Alpsankhyak) combination as a strategy to take on the NDA in 2024.

Dumri, Jharkhand



VOTE SHARE IN %
JMM – 51.76
AJSU - 42.91 Others – 5.33

WINNER: Bebi Devi (JMM)

RUNNER-UP Yashoda Devi (AJSU)

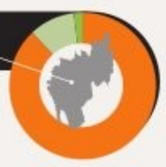
Bebi Devi, the wife of late Jharkhand minister Jagarnath Mahto, whose death in April necessitated the by-election, rode over her husband's popularity. This was the first experiment of the INDIA's, the united Opposition bloc, in Jharkhand. The ruling Grand Alliance fielded a common candidate against AJSU's Yashoda Devi.

Boxanagar, Tripura



VOTE SHARE IN %
BJP-87.97 CPI-10.07
Others-1.96

WINNER: Tafajjal Hossain, (BJP)

BJP, which expectedly won Dhanpur and Boxanagar seats in Tripura, said it does not take any election lightly. These two seats were the fortresses of the CPI(M). BJP managed to wrest Dhanpur in the last Assembly election and Boxanagar this time around.

RUNNER-UP Mizan Hossain, CPM

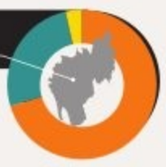
Dhanpur, Tripura



VOTE SHARE IN %
BJP-70.35, CPIM-26.12
Others-3.53

WINNER: 3 (BJP)

The saffron party said the victory in Boxanagar and Dhanpur was a result of hard work put in by party workers. Dhanpur constituency has a significant tribal population, still BJP candidate emerged victorious by a margin of over 18,000 votes.

RUNNER-UP Kaushik Chanda, CPM

Bageshwar, Uttarakhand

WINNER: Parwati Dass, (BJP)

BJP candidate Parvati Dass won the Bageshwar assembly (SC) seat, defeating her nearest Congress rival Basant Kumar, who had quit AAP to join Congress, by 2,405 votes. Significantly, there were 1,257 votes to NOTA which proved to be decisive. Winning the seat was a prestige issue for BJP as Parvati Dass's husband Chandan Ram Das, whose death in April necessitated the bypoll, had won on a huge margin.

BJP-49.54
Cong-45.96
Others-4.5

RUNNER-UP Basant Kumar (Congress)

Dhupguri, West Bengal

WINNER: Nirmal Chandra Roy (TMC)

The BJP's debacle is said to be politically significant ahead of the general election as the seat falls in Bengal's northern region where the BJP had made deep inroads in the 2019 general election by bagging seven out of eight Lok Sabha seats. Dhupguri is considered a big win for TMC and with this victory, the TMC's tally went up to 217 in the 294-member assembly.

Cong engaged in uniting Bharat, but BJP creating divide: Kharge in C'garh

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

CONGRESS president Mallikarjun Kharge on Friday hit out at the BJP on "India-Bharat" row and said that the saffron party has provoked it and trying to break the country.

Addressing the Chhattisgarh government programme, 'Bharose Ka Sammelan' in Rajnandgaon district, the home constituency of BJP ex-CM Raman Singh, the Congress leader claimed that his party is engaged in uniting Bharat. He asked that if the BJP is so antagonised with the word 'India' why then it named schemes like 'Skill India', 'Make in India', 'Digital India' and 'Startup India'.

"An alliance INDIA for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections has been formed by us and now BJP is saying the country's name India should be changed to Bharat. Why are they triggering a dispute when there is both India and Bharat in the Constitution itself", he asserted and further stated that there is a need to fight such a frame of mind (of BJP).

Kharge asserted that Congress is not against calling India as Bharat as claimed by the BJP and said, "We adore Bharat. The foot march from Kanyakumari to Kashmir by Rahul Gandhi was named Bharat Jodo Yatra. Congress is engaged in uniting Bharat".

He eulogised the Baghel government for its accomplishments. "In Chhattisgarh's land of communal harmony, the work of the CM and the members of his cabinet remains phenomenal. They have lived up to the trust and expectations of the people. This is the government of the poor, dalits, backward and farmers", he said and asked why the BJP was not performing as the Congress government.

After the 'Bharose Ka Sammelan', when asked by media-persons about the comment given by Udhayanidhi Stalin, he said that religion and politics are different things and there is no need to mix them. "I don't wish to discuss it as I have come to participate in the programme meant for commons", he stated.

BAGHEL WORRIED

'Reconsider procurement target of rice'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Raipur

CHHATTISGARH chief minister Bhupesh Baghel, expressing concerns over the reduction in the allocated target for rice procurement for the central pool from the state, has written to the union minister of food and public distribution Piyush Goyal to reconsider the Centre's decision.

Last month, the BJP in Chhattisgarh found strong reason to take credit after the Modi-led Centre has given the consent letter to Chhattisgarh to buy 86.5 lakh metric ton (LMT) of rice in the upcoming Kharif marketing season from the state. The opposition has welcomed the Centre's decision in an attempt to woo the paddy farmers in the state ahead of the Assembly polls.

The CM cited the proceedings of the meeting of the food secretaries convened by the Government of India on August 21 this year when the estimated paddy procurement in the state for the years 2023-24 has been revised to 86.5 LMT of produced rice.

To justify the stand of the government, Baghel said, "The state has decided to increase the procurement limit for paddy to 20 quintal per acre from the earlier 15 quintal per acre in response to demands from the farmers' group."

Ladakh Autonomous Council polls to be held on October 4

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Ladakh administration has issued a fresh election notification for Ladakh Autonomous Hill Development Council (LAHDC) Kargil polls after the Supreme Court set aside earlier notification for polls. Now as per the fresh notification, poll for LAHDC Kargil would be held on October 4 and after the apex court verdict, National Conference would be contesting the polls on its 'plough' symbol.

The Election Authority of Ladakh scrapped the previous poll schedule for LAHDC Kargil. Earlier, the polls were scheduled to be held on September 10. The LAHDC Kargil has 30 members. Of the 30 councillors, 26 are elected through election while four are nominated from minorities and women. As per the new notification, process for filing of nomination papers for LAHDC Kargil will start on September 9 while the last date for filing nominations has been fixed on September 16.

The scrutiny of nominations would take place on September 18 and candidates can withdraw their papers on September 20. The polling would be held on October 4 and counting would take place on October 8.

The entire election process will be completed before October 11. Meanwhile, J&K's grand old party National Conference (NC), which is a major party in Kargil, will be contesting the LAHDC Kargil polls on its "plough" symbol.

Earlier, the Ladakh administration had denied to allot "plough" symbol to NC by treating the party candidates as independent candidates. The NC had first moved J&K and Ladakh High Court and then SC.

On September 7, NC got a shot in the arm after the Supreme Court allotted "plough" symbol to the party and imposed a cost of ₹1 lakh on the Ladakh UT administration.

Along with NC, Congress and BJP are the main political parties in Muslim-dominated Kargil district. The NC and Congress have already reached an understanding on seat sharing. The NC-Congress combine will be facing challenge from BJP and independent candidates.

The LAHDC Kargil polls assume significance as people in Kargil have strongly opposed the abrogation of Article 370 and bifurcation of J&K state into two UTs and now demand constitutional safeguards under 6th Schedule.

Amid Raje dilemma, BJP begins Parivartan Yatra

In the election season, supporters of former CM Vasundhara Raje are excited by her presence at the launch of BJP's four Parivartan Yatras in the state. However, Raje loyalists are still waiting for her to get an important responsibility. Raje's chief rival and Union Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat has reiterated that state polls will be fought on the face of PM Narendra Modi. Beyond the Raje dilemma, a big buzz has erupted over comments of Union Road Transport Minister Nitin Gadkari while launching the last of the Yatras in Hanumangarh district. He also profusely praised works of previous Raje governments.

Pilot's absence in Jaipur questions his role in polls

While former Deputy CM Sachin Pilot was out of town on his birthday, the Pink City was full of posters and hoardings congratulating him on the ocassion. Amid discussions on why Pilot stayed away from celebrations in the election year, some of his supporters say that he is in America for family reasons. However, there is no official information of any kind. After Pilot was made a CWC member a fortnight ago, his loyalists were thrilled. But a day before his birthday, Pilot was not made the chairman of any of the eight major committees formed for the Rajasthan elections.

This yatra is being undertaken with this objective in mind."

Maha quota row as Shinde minister faces protest...

Maharashtra Revenue Minister Radhakrishna Vikhe Patil after the turmeric powder attack by a protestor, in Solapur on Friday | PTI

THE Maharashtra government would soon be in double trouble over the reservation storm triggered by Maratha activist Manoj Jarange Patil. Now the Dhangar community wants its inclusion into the Scheduled Tribe (ST) category.

A member of the Dhangar Aarakshan Kruti Samiti threw turmeric powder over Maharashtra Revenue Minister and BJP MLA Radhakrishna Vikhe-Patil in Solapur on Friday.

The Dhangar community is currently included in the OBC category, while they have demanded their inclusion in the Scheduled Tribe (ST) category. The STs opposing the Dhangars' demand have threatened agitation. Shekhar Bangale, a member of the Dhangar Aarakshan Kruti Samiti Bangale who had gone to meet Vikhe-Patil to submit a memorandum pulled the sachet of turmeric powder from his pocket and threw at BJP minister Radhakrishna Vikhe Patil at Government Guest House in Solapur.

He also hurled slogans against the government. Vikhe Patil is also guardian minister of Solapur district.

Bangale was later thrashed by the BJP minister's supporters and frisked away by cops. Then, he was immediately taken into custody by police. "We will not hesitate to blacken the face of incumbent ministers or the chief minister if his community's reservation demand is not met by them," said an angry Bangale.

However, after the incident, Vikhe-Patil asked the police not to file a case against Bangale.

"We have submitted a memorandum to the guardian minister on behalf of the Dhangar Samiti. We have demanded the long-pending reservation for the Dhangar community and also requested the government not to touch the OBC quota," he said. "We have been demanding reservation for a very long time. BJP leader Devendra Fadnavis during his 2014 state elections campaign had assured us that the community would get the benefit soon. It has been nine years since Fadnavis' statement," said Bangale.

... Activist says he will step up stir from Sept 9

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

MARATHA quota leader Manoj Jarange Patil has threatened to intensify his agitation from Saturday by vowing not to take water and medical treatment if the state government fails to meet his demand.

He said he was not happy with the state government's Thursday resolution giving the Kunbi caste certificate to the Marathas whose genealogy has reference to the Kunbis in pre-Nizam-era documents and other papers.

Patil demanded relaxation in the genealogy category for the caste's inclusion into the OBC category.

"I had given a 4-day ultimatum to the government over the Kunbi caste certificate to Marathas. I will stop consuming water and deny medical treatment as well if my demand is not met," said Patil.

RUSSIA HOLDS ELECTIONS IN OCCUPIED REGIONS

The site of a Russian attack in Kryvyi Rih, Ukraine on Friday | AFP

KYIV

RUSSIAN authorities are holding local elections this weekend in occupied parts of Ukraine in an effort to tighten their grip on territories Moscow illegally annexed a year ago and still does not fully control. The voting for Russian-installed legislatures in the Donetsk, Luhansk, Kherson and Zaporizhzhia regions begins Friday and concludes Sunday. It has already been denounced by Kyiv and the West.

"It constitutes a flagrant violation of international law, which Russia continues to disregard," the Council of Europe, the continent's foremost human rights body, said in a statement this week. Kyiv echoed that sentiment, with the parliament saying in a statement that the balloting in areas where Russia 'conducts active hostilities' poses a threat to Ukrainian lives.

Lawmakers urged other countries not to recognise the results of the vote. For Russia, it is important to go on with the voting to maintain the illusion of normalcy, despite the fact that the Kremlin does not have full control over the annexed regions, political analyst Abbas Gallyamov said.

"The Russian authorities are trying hard to pretend that everything is going according to plan, everything is fine. And if everything is going according to plan, then the political process should go according to plan," said Gallyamov, who worked as a speechwriter for Russian President Vladimir Putin when Putin served as prime minister.

Voters are supposed to elect regional legislatures, which in turn will appoint regional governors. In the Donetsk and Luhansk provinces in the east, thousands of candidates are also competing for seats on dozens of local councils.

The balloting is scheduled for the same weekend as other local elections in Russia. In the occupied regions, early voting kicked off last week as election officials went door to door or set up makeshift polling stations in public places to attract passersby.

The main contender in the election is United Russia, the Putin-loyal party that dominates Russian politics, although other parties, such as the Communist Party or the nationalist Liberal Democratic party, are also on the ballots. AP

At least 4 killed in Rus air strikes on Ukraine

KYIV

UKRAINE on Friday said four people were killed and dozens injured as Russia launched a new wave of air strikes in the centre and east of the country.

"A Russian aerial bomb killed three civilians in Odradokamyanka — two women and a man. Four local residents were injured," Interior Minister Igor Klymenko said, calling the air strike in the southern region of Kherson a "war crime" by Russia. Odradokamyanka is about 60 kilometres upstream of Kherson city and lies on the west bank of the Dnipro river. In the central city of Kryvyi Rig, President Volodymyr Zelensky's hometown, a missile attack on a police building killed a policeman, Klymenko had said earlier. "Rescuers of the State Emergency Service pulled out three more from under the rubble. They are in serious condition," Klymenko said. Photos he shared from the scene of the attack showed smoke spewing from the ruins of the building as rescue workers carried an injured person to an ambulance. Agencies

India's democratic institutions facing full-scale attack, Rahul says in Brussels

LONDON

THERE is a "full-scale assault" on the democratic institutions of India and there are concerns in the European Union quarters over this attempt to "stifle" the country's democratic structures, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said on Friday.

Interacting with reporters at a media briefing in Brussels, the Congress leader, who is on a European tour starting with Belgium, addressed a broad range of topics including the Russia-Ukraine conflict to say that the Opposition agrees with the government's current position on the issue.

On India hosting the G20 Summit, Rahul said it was a "good thing" and pointed to the lack of an invitation for Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge to the event as reflective of a "type of thinking" from the government that "did not value the leader of 60% of India's population". "There is an increase in discrimination and in violence in India and there is a full-scale assault on the democratic institutions of our country, that everybody knows," said Rahul.

Asked about the reaction of the European parliamentarians to some of these issues, he replied: "They were very concerned and they felt that there is an attempt to stifle the democratic structures of India, for sure. I mean, they were very, very clear with us."

On asked which name he prefers, India or Bharat, Rahul said, "I'm perfectly happy with the names that we have in our Constitution. India, that is Bharat, works perfectly well for me. "But I think these, in a sense to me, are panic reactions. There's a little bit of fear in the government. These are distraction tactics," he said. "It's also interesting that every time we raise the issue of Mr Adani and crony capitalism, the Prime Minister comes out with some dramatic new diversion tactic," he said. The BJP has previously dubbed Rahul as the "present-day Mir Jafar of Indian polity" who went overseas seeking help from foreign forces to become a 'nawab' in India.The ruling party had also said that Gandhi had insulted and defamed India with his comments overseas. PTI

U.K. JOURNALIST ACCUSED OF INTERFERENCE

Singapore accused a veteran British journalist of interfering in domestic politics on Friday, issuing him a warning after he publicly endorsed a local independent media outlet. The Ministry of Communications and Information said it had issued a warning to Dominic Ziegler, Singapore bureau chief of The Economist magazine. Ziegler, a British national, participated in an unpaid ad campaign for Jom, a weekly digital magazine. JAPAN

Q2 GDP GROWTH REVISED DOWN TO 4.8%

Japan's gross domestic product (GDP) growth for the April-June period revised down to 4.8% from an earlier forecast of 6% on account of weak capital spending. However, the world's third-largest economy maintained an expansion for the third straight quarter. According to the Cabinet Office, exports rose an annualized 12.9% in the quarter, partly because of the yen's weakness against the dollar. As domestic demand remained weak, falling 2.2%, private consumption was sluggish in the quarter. The country's capital expenditure fell from a flat figure that earlier projected to minus 4%. According to Naohiko Baba, chief Japan economist at Goldman Sachs, the "downward revision mainly reflects capex, followed by consumption and exports. Separate data released by the Ministry of Health, Labour, and Welfare on Friday showed a sixteenth straight monthly fall in wages adjusted for inflation.

TAIWAN

AUG EXPORTS FALL LESS THAN EXPECTED

Exports of Taiwan tumbled for the twelfth consecutive month in August. However, the fall in export was less than expected. According to the country' export growth may return in September ahead of the year-end holiday shopping season. The country's exports fell 7.3% in August in value from a year ago period to $37.36 billion, the ministry said. This is the smallest decline and first single-digit percentage fall since October. Despite the stagnation in exports, the country's GDP returned to growth in the second quarter, helped by resilient domestic consumption. The ministry forecast improved export performance in coming months. The ministry said exports may expand in September, predicting a performance ranging from a contraction of 2% to growth of 2%. Total shipments of electronic components tumbled 11.2% from the year ago period to $15.14 billion. Semiconductor exports down 10.4%.

SOUTH KOREA

GDP GROWTH EXPECTED TO FALL SHORT OF 2% IN 2024

South Korea's gross domestic product (GDP) growth is expected to hover around 1% in 2023 and 2024, according to foreign investment banks JP Morgan, HSBC, Citi, Nomura and UBS. They expect the country's economic growth will fall short of 2% in 2024, as per their August forecast data compiled by the Korea Center for International Finance (KCIF) on Tuesday. If predictions come true, it will be a back-to-back 1% GDP growth for the first time since data compilation began in 1954. A 1% economic growth for September 2023 is a consensus among most economists. The country's Ministry of Economy and Finance, Bank of Korea (BOK) and the International Monetary Fund (IMF) forecast a 1.4% growth. The Korea Development Institute, OECD and Barclays expect a 1.5% growth, while HSBC and Citi predict Korea's economy to expand by only 1%.

'India revolutionised tech via digital infra'

Digital public infra gains acceptance abroad as way forward for financial inclusion and technological advancement

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

AMITABH KANT, India's G20 Sherpa, on Friday, highlighted the achievements of the country's digital public infrastructure (DPI) during a pre-summit briefing.

Kant stated that the country's presidency has successfully revolutionised technology through DPI, which has garnered global acknowledgment as a unique model for driving financial inclusion, fast payments, and future tech innovation.

"I think one of the key takeaways of India's presidency is that the world acknowledges that India has truly revolutionised technology through DPI, which is a unique model," Kant said while addressing the media on Friday ahead of the G20 Summit in New Delhi.

He emphasised that when India assumed the G20 presidency, digital public infrastructure and its open-source model were relatively unknown. However, through the concerted efforts of the finance track and the sherpa track, India's DPI has gained acceptance abroad as the way forward for financial inclusion and technological advancement. The definition, framework, and future direction of DPI were extensively discussed during the G20 meetings.

Meanwhile, India's DPI received accolades from the World Bank on Friday for its transformative impact over the past decade under the current Indian government. The financial institution highlighted India's remarkable achievements, noting that the country accomplished significant milestones in just six years, a feat that otherwise requires nearly five decades to realise.

In its G20 Global Partnership for Financial Inclusion (GPFI) document, the World Bank lauded India's robust digital public goods infrastructure. The initiatives that drew praise include the Unified Payments Interface (UPI), Jan Dhan, Aadhar, ONDC, and CoWin, which collectively contribute to the nation's strong DPI framework.

On the question of efforts taken by the government to take India's DPI success story overseas, VM Kwatra, secretary, Ministry of External Affairs, said: "There are multiple lines of efforts to ensure that DPI not only expands and spreads across various economic ecosystem within India, but also develop huge value proposition for governance, transparency and financial inclusion internationally."

G20: Crypto industry expects global leaders will come up with regulatory strategy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE crypto industry and exchanges anticipate that virtual currency assets will be widely discussed in the G20 Summit, as they expect it to drive constructive dialogue on developing a global approach to regulate the sector.

They say effective implementation of policy frameworks will protect the stability of financial systems and also foster innovation and wider adoption of crypto assets. The Synthesis Paper released on Thursday by the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and the Financial Stability Board (FSB) discussed various challenges associated with crypto. It also said developing effective frameworks and policies is the best way to limit substitution into crypto-assets.

"As leaders in the crypto sector, we look forward to the G20 Summit as a venue for global leaders to appreciate the enormous prospects of crypto assets. Our expectations for the G20 Summit are unequivocal: We want leaders to champion a regulatory strategy that not only encourages innovation but also protects investors and ensures market integrity," Rajagopal Menon, vice-President, WazirX.

Crypto exchanges said they recognise the importance of regulatory control; at the same time, they emphasise the importance of creating an environment that permits entrepreneurs and developers to continue their work. Web3 technologies including crypto offer several revolutionary benefits. But given their disruptive nature, they also pose certain challenges.

RBI nod for Kotak Bank interim MD

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has given its nod for appointment of Dipak Gupta as interim Managing Director and CEO of Kotak Mahindra Bank following the resignation of Uday Kotak.

RBI through its letter dated September 7, 2023, approved Gupta's appointment for a period of two months with effect from September 2, 2023, Kotak Mahindra Bank said in a BSE filing. It is expected that RBI would decide the full time MD of the bank during the period. Uday Kotak stepped down as MD & CEO of the bank effective September 1, nearly four months ahead of his term. As an interim arrangement, its Joint Managing Director Gupta will carry out the duties of MD&CEO for two months as specified by RBI. As per the regulatory mandate restricting an MD's term to 15 years, the bank's board had earlier this year decided to appoint Uday Kotak as a non-executive director.

NVIDIA ties up with RIL, Tata to develop AI tech

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

NVIDIA, a US based chip maker, announced partnerships with two Indian conglomerates -- Reliance Industries and Tata Group -- on September 8.

The company, along with Reliance Jio, tied up to build a state-of-the-art cloud-based AI compute infrastructure. RIL said this new infrastructure will speed up a wide range of India's key initiatives and AI projects, including AI chatbots, drug discovery, climate research and more. As part of the collaboration, NVIDIA will provide Jio with end-to-end AI supercomputer technologies including CPU, GPU, networking, and AI operating systems and frameworks for building the most advanced AI models. Jio will manage and maintain the AI cloud infrastructure and oversee customer engagement and access.

"As India advances from a country of data proliferation to creating technology infrastructure for widespread and accelerated growth, computing and technology super centres like the one we envisage with NVIDIA will provide the catalytic growth just like Jio did to our nation's digital march. I am delighted with the partnership with NVIDIA and looking forward to a purposeful journey together," said Mukesh Ambani, Chairman and MD, RIL.

With Tata Group, NVIDIA has a three-pronged plan: Upskilling the 6 lakh-plus employees of TCS, in AI; working with Tata Motors to deploy AI across design, styling, engineering, simulation testing and autonomous vehicle capabilities; and help Tata Communications build AI infra. Jio, in a press note, said new AI cloud infrastructure will enable researchers, developers, start-ups, scientists, AI practitioners and others across India to access accelerated computing and high-speed, secure cloud networking to run workloads safely and with extreme energy efficiency.

"India has scale, data and talent. With most advanced AI computing infrastructure, Reliance can build its own large language models that power generative AI applications made in India," said Jensen Huang, founder and CEO of NVIDIA.

Reliance in early talks with foreign chipmakers for technology partner

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RELIANCE INDUSTRIES said to have begun exploring possibility of finding a partner for semiconductor manufacturing.

According to a report, the oil-to-telecom conglomerate is in early talks with foreign chipmakers for a technology partner. The report, citing sources, said the company has the intent but no specific timeline; the company has yet to make a decision on whether it wants to ultimately invest.

India's semiconductor incentive scheme has been attracting many players. Recently, the government approved the application of the US-based Micron Technology Inc., which plans to invest $2.75 billion in an assembly and testing facility in Gujarat. According to a recent report, Taiwanese tech-giant Foxconn Technology Group has partnered with STMicroelectronics NV to build a semiconductor factory in India. Foxconn and Franco-Italian STMicro are applying for the PLI (Production-Linked Incentive) incentive for a 40-nanometer chip plant. The government has requested more details about their application. Additionally, mining giant Vedanta Limited is also keen to begin fabs in the country and is actively looking for technology partners. India launched a $10 billion PLI scheme in 2021 to develop the semiconductor ecosystem in the country. The government forecasts that the domestic chip market will be worth $80 billion by 2028, compared to its current value of $23 billion.

Air India to seek approvals abroad for Vistara merger

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AIR INDIA, having received approval for the Vistara merger from the Competition Commission of India (CCI), is now focusing on obtaining clearance from competition regulators of other jurisdictions, including Singapore, to complete the process.

"We also need approval from the competition regulators in some other jurisdictions, including Singapore, before we can fully press the accelerator. We are working toward this and, in the meantime, continue to plan for an integration that makes our future airline group even stronger than the sum of its parts," Air India CEO and Managing Director, Campbell Wilson, said on Friday.

Full-service carrier Vistara, which is joint venture between Tata Group and Singapore Airlines, commenced operation in 2015. Tata Group, which took over Air India in January 2022, is in the process of creating two airlines by merging four entities- a low-cost airline by merging AirAsia India and Air India Express and a full-service carrier by merging Air India and Vistara.

This, according to Tata, will bring more synergies in operations and the airline to achieve a market share of at least 30% in the domestic market in the next few years.

Wilson also addressed the challenges of facing more than 600 pending legal cases against the airline.

Nifty Realty jumps 45% in 6 months despite high interest rate concerns

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

UP 45% in 6 months, the Nifty Realty Index continues to surge despite high interest rate concerns, which to an extent has slowed growth of housing sales.

Experts say as strong-listed players continue to increase their market share with strong order book and their debt levels coming down significantly, they are being cheered at Dalal Street. They also believe the market may have factored in one more rate hike after the hawkish stance maintained by the RBI to tame inflationary pressure in its recent meet. Mortgage rates offered by most large lenders have gone up by 240-250bps from 6.7% in March 2022 to 9.2-9.3% now.

Among stocks in the index, DLF, which has the highest index weightage at about 26%, has gained 51% in the past 6 months. Shares of Godrej Properties and Macrotech Developers (Lodha), two other heavyweights, have surged 66% and 45%, respectively, during the period.

Narendra Solanki, Head Fundamental Research - Investment Services, Anand Rathi Shares and Stock Brokers, said, "After facing a wave of challenges following the Covid-19 pandemic, real estate sector has registered strong growth with a massive uptick in demand. Despite the rise in interest rates, credits to real estate sector has been rising which indicates that the real estate sector is growing and people are investing in the sector. This also indicates that the banking sector is positive about real estate and willing to provide capital for construction of commercial and housing projects."

Analysts at ICICI securities in a recent note have said listed developers in their coverage universe (ex-REITs) have been able to bring down their consolidated net debt levels by 37% to ₹27,300 crore (ex- DCCDL) between Q4FY20-Q1FY24. They also noted that interest rate hikes may not significantly impact demand as overall affordability levels as per HDFC Limited, remain healthy at 3.3x annual income, the best in the last 25 years. ICICI has a buy and add rating on DLF, Oberoi Realty, Prestige, Brigade, Mahindra Lifespaces, Sobha and Sunteck Realty.

RBI to withdraw incremental CRR in phases by Oct 7

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

IN a positive development for banks, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Friday announced to discontinue the incremental cash reserve ratio (I-CRR) in a phased manner beginning Saturday. RBI had imposed I-CRR on banks to absorb surplus liquidity following the withdrawal of ₹2,000 currency notes.

On August 10, the RBI mandated banks to maintain I-CRR of 10% on the increase in their net demand and time liabilities (NDTL) between May 19, 2023, and July 28, 2023.

"On a review, it has been decided to discontinue the I-CRR in a phased manner," the RBI said in a statement. "Based on an assessment of current and evolving liquidity conditions, it has been decided that the amounts impounded under the I-CRR would be released in stages so that system liquidity is not subjected to sudden shocks and money markets function in an orderly manner," it added.

The RBI said 25% of the amount of I-CRR maintained by banks will be released on Saturday and another 25% on September 23. The rest will be released on October 7. With the imposition of I-CRR, RBI has managed to drain out excess liquidity from the banking system. As per RBI data, the liquidity was around ₹2.64 lakh crore on August 10, which went down to ₹1.21 lakh crore on August 13 and on August 21 the system transitioned into a deficit of ₹23,644.43 crore. The liquidity in the banking system has remained below ₹1 lakh crore. On Thursday, the liquidity surplus was about ₹76,000 crore while a day before on Wednesday the surplus was ₹93,935 crore.

While announcing the I-CRR, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das had indicated that the provision was a temporary measure for managing liquidity overhang.

RBI says 25% I-CRR to be released on Sept 9

Dhoni spotted playing golf with Trump

India's World Cup-winning captain MS Dhoni was spotted enjoying a friendly round of golf with former USA president Donald Trump, in New Jersey. Trump hosted the wicketkeeper-batter to play golf at Trump National Golf Club Bedminster. A picture of the two and a video of them playing have been doing the rounds on social media.

Arbitrary ACC move raises eyebrows

SL, B'desh coaches not amused as India-Pak game gets reserve day

A VERY popular football-related meme was widely shared on Friday. It was slightly recalibrated into a cricket one before being posted. In it, the makers mocked the organisers of the ongoing Asia Cup. "One regular day of 2023 Asia Cup," it said. "Will never happen."

This was a natural reaction as the organisers abruptly changed the playing conditions for one match — India vs Pakistan in Colombo on Sunday — in the Super Four Stage. As per the original schedule, only the final, scheduled on September 17, had a reserve day. Now, the India vs Pakistan, slated for Sunday, can be resumed on Monday (September 11), if needed. The PCB officially communicated this decision on Friday morning.

"A reserve day has been incorporated for the Super11 Asia Cup 2023 Super 4's match between Pakistan vs India scheduled to take place on 10th September 2023 at R Premadasa International Cricket Stadium in Colombo," said an official statement from the PCB.

"If adverse weather suspends play during the Pakistan vs India game, the match will continue on 11th September 2023 from the point it was suspended. In such an eventuality, ticket-holders are advised to hold on to their match tickets which will remain valid and will be utilised for the reserve day," added the release.

No wonder it drew sharp criticism.

With the first India vs Pakistan abandoned after one innings and the threat of rain looming, the organisers have tried to ensure there is a full game. The general refrain has been that the move seemed unfair to the other teams. In fact both teams viewed this move quite sceptically. Both Bangladesh and the Sri Lanka coaches expressed their displeasure over the move when asked about it on the eve of their match in Colombo.

Chandika Hathurusingha, Bangladesh head coach, said he has not seen this kind of thing so far in any tournament. "I haven't seen this kind of thing; changing rules in the middle of the tournament." The former Sri Lanka player confirmed that the Bangladesh team was not consulted before arriving at the decision. "We haven't spoken about that (decision) because once you have made a decision, you don't have much to say after that. If we would have been consulted before, we would have our comments but because it is already made I don't have any concern and we just need to get on with what we have been asked to do."

Hathurusingha added it would have been ideal if every team would have got an extra day. "I am sure there is a technical committee represented by the six participating countries, so they must have decided it for some other reason. Yes, It's not ideal, we would love to have an extra day. Other than that I don't have much comments on that as they have made a decision."

His Sri Lankan counterpart, Chris Silverwood, admitted he was surprised when he learnt about it. "Little surprised when I first heard, but at the same time we are not the organisers of the competition so not a lot we can do about that. To be honest, it will be a problem if the reserve day then provides points to the teams and not someone else, but nothing we can do about so we keep preparing and do the best we can," he opined.

The move might have rubbed two other teams the wrong way but PCB said the Asian Cricket Council has to relent as it decided to host matches in Colombo despite serious rain threat and being warned about it. "The PCB has raised objections with regard to scheduling of the Asia Cup matches in Colombo despite the rain threat. The forecast is not good and there are chances of rain even during the India-Pakistan Super Four clash on September 10. This insistence from the PCB forced the Asian Cricket Council to include a reserve day for that September 10 match," the PCB insider keeping a track on developments told this daily.

"This reserve day arrangement is only for the India-Pakistan match. All the participating boards have agreed for this making it easy for the ACC to arrive at the conclusion," added the source.

INDIA MAY END UP PLAYING ON THREE CONSECUTIVE DAYS

With the threat of rain in Colombo all through the week, there could be a chance that India may end up playing on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. If, as expected, their game against Pakistan spills into Monday, they will have to get on with it as their match against Sri Lanka is scheduled for Tuesday.

High ticket prices for India-Pak clash

The two arch-rivals not only have a reserve day for their Super Four clash. With the PCB, the original hosts, expecting it to be a high demand contest, it has decided not to reduce ticket prices of the fixture. The same strategy was adopted in the Pallekele leg as well initially but poor demand forced the organisers to slash the prices. It, however, failed to produce desired results.

"Tickets for Lower Blocks 'C' and 'D' of the RPICS Colombo for the Super Four Stage of the Asia Cup will be reduced to LKR 1000 per ticket. The reduction will be applicable for the games to be played on September 9, 12, 14, and 15. However, for the game between Pakistan and India on September 10 and the finals of the tournament, the ticket prices for the respective blocks will remain at the originally set prices," said a release issued by the organisers.

Fielding drills take precedence for Rohit & Co

FIROZ MIRZA @ Colombo

ON Thursday morning, a few Indian players, mainly batters, had a training session at the Gamini Dissanayake Indoor Cricket Nets at the Nondescripts Cricket Club, Colombo. As it was pouring, the optional training session was held indoors with only batters training at the nets taking throwdowns. The session was India's first since September 1 ahead of their Asia Cup opener against Pakistan at the Pallekele International Cricket Stadium.

After their first match got abandoned, Rohit Sharma and Co decided not to train ahead of their Group A clash against Nepal at the same venue on September 4. Against Pakistan they chose to bat so when the coin flipped in their favour against Nepal, India preferred to field. But it turned out to be a horrific outing for Indian fielders as they grassed three catches inside five overs to let Nepal openers — Kushal Bhurtel and Aasif Sheikh — add 65 runs in just 9.5 overs before the former departed. The bowlers then brought the team back in the game as India restricted their opponents to 230 and won the match by 10 wickets via DLS method to make it to the Super Four stage.

But batting coach Vikram Rathour bemoaned the dropped chances after the match. "The wicket today was good, better than the last one during Pakistan. We could have been more disciplined. The three dropped catches helped them.They batted well... dlad nothing major happened (because of the dropped catches). It was good to see how we responded to it (the target)," he had said on being asked about the sloppy fielding.

As Rathour said, the dismal performance on the field meant the fielding coach T Dilip was among the first to get out here at the R Premadasa Stadium in Colombo on Friday evening when India had an outdoor net session for the first time in a little over than a week. Shardul Thakur, Mohammed Shami, Axar Patel, Mohammed Siraj, Suryakumar Yadav, Ishan Kishan, Tilak Varma and a few others were seen engaged in intense fielding drills. They first had a session throwing the balls at nets followed by catches at the boundary line. The players were divided into two groups for the purpose.

Once the players shifted to nets outside the ground, wicketkeeper-batter KL Rahul, who had to miss the first two matches due to a niggle, did wicketkeeping drills with the fielding coach. Rahul, who underwent thigh surgery after sustaining an injury in May during an Indian Premier League match, will be playing his first ODI since March if he replaces Kishan in the playing XI against Pakistan on Sunday. He was included in the Asia Cup squad but a niggle had forced him out of the group stage matches. Rahul looked comfortable during the session as he dived towards his left and right without any discomfort. Once he departed, left-arm spinner Kuldeep Yadav, Shreyas Iyer and Shubhman Gill joined Dilip.

Once done with the fielding drills, the action shifted to practice nets outside the stadium with the players sweating it out for more than one-and-half-hours before rain played spoilsport again. Batters including Virat Kohli, Suryakumar Yadav, Iyer, Rahul, Kishan and others took turns to first take throwdowns before shifting to adjacent nets facing the pacers and tweakers simultaneously. Interestingly, it was Varma, who played the role of right-arm off-break bowler in the practice session.

The session, however, had to be halted abruptly with the sky suddenly opening up at around 9:40 pm. The players left soon thereafter. The Pakistan team is expected to train at the venue on Saturday morning. The weather, however, is not encouraging. As has been the case for the past few days, rain is expected on Saturday and Sunday, the day when India play Pakistan, with precipitation chances to be around 90 per cent on both the days.

MIXED PERFORMANCES

Sri Lanka comfortably defeated Bangladesh in the first match by five wickets. When the tournament moved to Lahore, Bangladesh were dominant against Afghanistan, while miscalculations from the Afghan side helped Sri Lanka get over the line by a mere two runs. With their weaknesses exposed, the re-match of the tournament could be interesting.

THE STREAK

Despite their narrow win against Afghanistan, Sri Lanka registered their 12th consecutive win in the ODIs. They are one win away from 13 back-to-back wins in the format. If the home side manages to beat Bangladesh, they will become the team with the second-longest winning streak in men's cricket after Australia (21).

THE RAIN FACTOR

Every match played in Sri Lanka during this edition of the Asia Cup was affected by rain in some form. The showers are predicted for the entire week during the Super Fours stage. With only the India vs Pakistan match getting the reserve day, the other teams would want to play all 100 overs without much interruption from rain.

'Kuldeep has bowled well despite going wicketless'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

VETERAN India spinner Piyush Chawla feels that Kuldeep Yadav has bowled well in the Asia Cup eventhough the wrist spinner did not take any wickets against Nepal in the group stage clash last week.

Kuldeep bowled his ten overs and gave away just 34 runs with no entry on the wickets column in India's second match of the tournament while the other spinner Ravindra Jadeja accounted for four wickets in the same clash. However, Chawla said that sometimes the numbers don't tell the whole story. "Kuldeep did not get the wicket but he bowled well because sometimes your analysis doesn't reflect how you bowl. He bowled well and sometimes you go wicketless," he told this daily.

Chawla, who is an expert with Star Sports, the official broadcaster, said that the spinners have done well so for in the continental tournament despite not having much help. "In Lahore, there was hardly any help for the spinners. In Sri Lanka, Maheesh Theekshana has bowled decently. Shakib Al Hasan has bowled well for Bangladesh and Ravindra Jadeja bowled really well against Nepal," he said.

The other spinner who had struggled to make an impact is Pakistan's Shadab Khan with the pacers doing the heavylifting. Chawla believes that the leg-spinner has to find his rhythm. "Shadab Khan is a good bowler but he is not looking in his 100 per cent in rhythm as of now," he said.

FRANCE took a huge step towards qualifying for Euro 2024 with a 2-0 victory over Ireland on Thursday, while the Netherlands and Denmark claimed big wins as they eye places at next year's finals in Germany.

Aurelien Tchouameni and Marcus Thuram scored either side of half-time and France could have added several more goals as they outclassed Ireland at the Parc des Princes in Paris in qualifying Group B.

Captain Kylian Mbappe had a goal disallowed for offside and Ousmane Dembele later hit the post for a France side who saw Olivier Giroud limp off with an ankle injury in the first half.,Last year's beaten World Cup finalists have a maximum 15 points and have yet to concede a goal after five matches in the group, which they lead by a massive nine points from both the Netherlands and Greece.

Ireland, with just three points after four games, will surely need to beat the Netherlands at home on Sunday to maintain a realistic chance of going through with the top two teams in each group qualifying.

Sabalenka vs Gauff for top prize

AP @ New York

WAY down and almost out, Aryna Sabalenka just kept reminding herself the match wasn't over until the final point. Then she momentarily forgot that it hadn't arrived.

Sabalenka refocussed after a premature victory celebration to wrap up a 0-6, 7-6 (1), 7-6 (5) victory over Madison Keys on Thursday night and reach her first US Open final.

The Australian Open champion had been just 1-5 in Grand Slam semifinals, including losses the last two years in the round in New York. The second-seeded Sabalenka will face No. 6-seeded Coco Gauff on Saturday. She wasn't sure how she was going to get there when the hard-hitting Keys rolled through the first set in 30 minutes and opened a 5-3 lead in the second. "You just have to keep trying, keep staying there, and keep pushing it. Maybe you'll be able to turn around this game," Sabalenka said. "Lucky me, somehow magically, I don't know how, I was able to turn around this game." She did it by taking the two tiebreakers by a combined 17-6, able to laugh off her mistake in the second one.

Meanwhile, Gauff never wavered one bit. Not when match point after match point went by the wayside. Not during a 40-shot exchange that ultimately helped decide the outcome. And not, most distracting of all, when her semifinal against Karolina Muchova was interrupted for 50 minutes by environmental activists — one of whom glued his bare feet to the concrete floor in the stands.

S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA
@Chennai

THERE has been a 'silent killer' on prowl for decades, which is now threatening the global biodiversity. We are talking about hundreds and thousands of invasive alien species that are overwhelming the natural species across the world. India, which is megadiverse and home to four of the global biodiversity hotspots, is the second worst affected country after the US. Last week in Bonn, Germany, representatives of 143 member States of Intergovernmental Platform on Biodiversity and Ecosystem Services (IPBES) approved a new report, according to which more than 37,000 alien species have been introduced by many human activities to regions and biomes around the world. Of these, 3,500 alien species seriously threaten nature and contribute to 60% of recorded global animal and plant extinctions.

The new report is the most comprehensive assessment ever carried out on invasive alien species around the world. It has been four years in development by 86 experts from 49 countries, drawing on more than 13,000 references. What is startling is the global economic cost of these invasive exceeds $423 billion annually, which is more than the global annual cost estimate for natural disasters. It has at least quadrupled every decade since 1970 and is only going to worsen. On mitigation efforts, the report says 80% of countries have targets related to managing invasive alien species in their national biodiversity plans, but only 17% have national laws or regulations specifically addressing these issues.

As for India, the report had only one reference about the spread of Caribbean false mussels damaging locally important fishery resources in Kerala. The problem is much bigger and severe.

In another recent study published in Biological Invasions, 330 species were declared invasive out of more than 2,000 alien species found in India and cost the country $127.3 billion to $182.6 billion from 1960-2020. The report analysed 112 countries. The top five nations incurring maximum economic loss due to the invasives were the US, Australia, Brazil, China and India.

Tanaya Nair, member of Biodiversity Collaborative Research Student, University of Oxford and Visiting Researcher, University of Witwatersrand, told TNIE, "Recent studies predict that nearly half of India's total area is vulnerable to invasion by alien plant species, posing significant threats to agriculture and national security. Data from the field suggests that 76% of all Indian forests are already invaded by multiple invasive alien plant species." She said the impact on the environment is felt through multiple interconnected pathways.

For example, the shola-grassland mosaics of the upper Nilgiris in Tamil Nadu serve as catchment areas for high elevation streams that flow into the Bhavani river. Here, large tracts (~25%) of native grassland have already been lost to invasions by woody invasive plants like Wattle which exert a greater demand on the water table, and in turn, alter the water flow and flood regulation that many communities depend on.

The developed world tends to assess the effects of Invasive Alien Species using economic cost models. However, in the Indian context, where significant populations rely on natural resources, it might be more relevant to consider their impact in terms of the disproportionate effect on livelihoods. "Invasive species affect local communities by affecting their health, safety and cultural attachment to native landscapes. For instance, Prosopis invasion has blocked migratory routes in the Rann of Kutch, reducing access to water sources and has also led to conflicts among pastoralists over reduced grazing resources," Nair said.

Dr Vinod B Mathur, former chairperson, National Biodiversity Authority of India and IPBES management committee that guided the latest assessment, told TNIE that invasive species are growing at an unprecedented rate, unlike ever before. It is recognised as one of the five major direct drivers of change in nature globally, alongside land-and sea-use change, direct exploitation of organisms, climate change and pollution.

"India being one of the 17 mega biodiverse countries of the world is facing negative impacts in varying dimensions. It is estimated that Lantana camara, a plant invasive species, has invaded 38.8% forests of India, particularly degraded forests of hot and humid areas. Lantana is widely distributed across landscapes with maximum invasion in fragmented dry deciduous forests of Central India, Shivalik Hills and Southern Western Ghats. Lantana is probably the most widely distributed invasive plant in India, as compared to other invasive plants," Mathur said.

Tamil Nadu shows the way forward

Tamil Nadu, including the Western Ghats, is among the chief invasion hotspots in the country. A compendium of plants of Tamil Nadu recorded a total of 6,723 taxa (species), of which 2,459 are non-native alien species, comprising nearly 36.6% of the state's flora. As per an official report, the area under five major invasive alien species alone is estimated to be 2,68,100 hectares (ha). The Lantana camara was found in 1,85,000 ha, Prosopis juliflora (56,000 ha), Acacia mearnsii (wattle, 22,400 ha), Senna spectabilis (2,400 ha), and Opuntia sp. (2,300 ha). Additional Chief Secretary Supriya Sahu told TNIE, "Chief Minister M K Stalin had made removal of invasives a priority and Tamil Nadu is the first state to have a dedicated invasive species removal policy. Tamil Nadu Newsprint and Papers Limited has been roped in to remove the invasive trees and use the wood for manufacturing paper. So far, we have removed invasives from 4,185 hectares."

Need for national-level policy

Mahesh Sankaran, Professor, National Centre for Biological Sciences, said a request was made to the Centre to frame a policy on the invasive species management, but that hasn't happened yet. In India, when someone spots invasive alien species, nobody is able to identify it. "Our biosecurity measures are weak. For instance, the customs office at airports rarely check if anyone is carrying plants that can carry the risk of invasive species."

CASUAL & EDGY

Parachute pants are making a comeback, with many youngsters following celebrities like Hailey Bieber and Bella Hadid who have made it a wardrobe staple

In the past

In the early 1980s, when tight fits were ruling the fashion trend, parachute pants became a fad in the US as part of the increased popularity of break dancing. The pants were usually referred to as the pants' made of nylon material, similar to a parachute, hence the name.

MONIKA MONALISA

ONCE casual wear, parachute pants are now making a dramatic fashion statement. With celebrities like Kendall Jenner and Hailey Bieber making it their go-to casual pick, these pants have now snowballed into a bigger fashion trend, finding their way into the wardrobe of many youngsters in the city.

Ishana Yadav saw her favourite model Bella Hadid wearing parachute pants and absolutely fell in love with it. "I usually team it up with a crop top or tube top. It gives a cool casual and carefree vibe to it. It's a wardrobe staple for me," says Yadav, who works as a community manager and moonlights as a model.

It's popularly assumed that parachute pants evolved from cargo pants. However, the basic difference between the two is that unlike the structured, utility-influenced cargo pants, parachute pants have a loose, drawstring fit at the ankle. Even though Yahvi Chavan, being a dancer, loves cargo pants, she has acquired a liking for parachute pants recently. "I keep track of the trends that the fashion celebrities follow and saw many international celebrities on TikTok and Instagram reels wearing and styling them. That is the reason it became so popular," says Chavan. She further adds, "Being a petite person gives a good shape to my body. If it is styled with a corset, it could rightly accentuate your waistline."

Meant for a casual look, you don't have to dress it down all the time. And Kay Reynolds, style and fashion Consultant from London who is currently living in Bengaluru, tells us how. "I'm almost 40 and I still love these pants as much as I did in my 20s – I style them with heeled boots to elongate my legs and to be able to take them from day to night. You can also add a bodysuit with lace trims to add a feminine touch, a delicate corsage around my neck to balance out the heaviness of the pants, and a cropped shirt as an overlayer to add some edginess."

Coming from luxury labels, like Stella McCartney, these pants are easily available at various street style brands. Mostly found in grunge colours, with popular colours being greys and silver, you can also up the style quotient and break the monotony by picking them in bright colours, like what Aishwarya Baruah, a fashion model by profession, did. "I am a huge fan of casual styles, and parachute pants perfectly fit well with my style. However, I didn't want to pick the same regular colours, instead, I went for a florescent green. I usually team it up with a black basic top," says Baruah.

Manganese: Crucial Ingredient in Steel, Battery Production

G P KUNDARGI

MANGANESE plays a pivotal role in both steel manufacturing and various chemical and battery applications. According to the United States Geological Survey (USGS), approximately 85% to 90% of manganese ore is utilized for the production of Ferro Alloys. About 4% to 5% is consumed in hot metal production, specifically for steel manufacturing through the blast furnace route. The remaining 5% to 10% of manganese ore finds its purpose in the production of chemicals and batteries.

High-purity manganese products find extensive applications in dry cell batteries, electric vehicle (EV) batteries, 200-series stainless steel, specialty alloys, micronutrients, cattle feed ingredients, and fertilizers. One of the key uses of high-purity manganese is the manufacturing of High-Grade Manganese Sulphate Monohydrate, which serves as a critical ingredient in the production of:

Electrolytic manganese dioxide (EMD) - a key component in dry cell batteries and batteries for electric vehicles.

Chemical manganese dioxide (CMD) - used in the production of dry cell batteries.

Electrolytic manganese metal (EMM) - employed in the manufacturing of stainless steel special alloys and electric vehicle batteries.

High-purity Manganese sulphate (HPMSM) - Monohydrate utilized in lithium-ion batteries for electric vehicles.

With the surge in electric vehicle adoption, high-value manganese products are predominantly directed towards EV batteries. This burgeoning market is set for robust growth, with an anticipated Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) exceeding 25% in the EV battery segment and moderate CAGR in EMD and EMM products in other sectors.

The demand for batteries is escalating rapidly, aligning with the global surge in electric vehicle sales. Forecasts suggest an increase from 1.1 million units in 2017 to 11 million units in 2025, with an expected surge to 30 million by 2030. According to Bloomberg News Energy Finance and Nickel West, a considerable portion of the new car sales, approximately 55%, is projected to comprise Electric Vehicles by 2040, with electric vehicles constituting about 33% of the global automotive fleet.

Lithium-ion batteries are poised for dramatic growth over the next two decades, surging from 166 GWh of annual demand in 2019 to a staggering 3045 GWh in 2040—an 18-fold increase. Currently, EV battery composition includes various combinations of cobalt, nickel, manganese, and aluminium, with manganese offering an economical solution for battery technology producers.

The demand for high-purity manganese sulphate monohydrate (HPMSM) as a critical component for lithium-ion batteries in electric vehicles is expected to soar by 900% by 2040. The production of HPMSM for EV batteries currently relies on two primary processes:

A) Producing electrolytic manganese metal (EMM) and converting it into high-purity manganese sulphate.

B) Extracting manganese from ore through reduction roasting, leaching with sulfuric acid, purification, and crystallization.

Manganese ore in India, primarily in the form of oxides and silicates, necessitates a reduction roasting process to convert it into lower manganese oxides, making it suitable for further chemical processing via acid leaching to obtain manganese sulphate. The efficiency of leaching depends on the ore's grade and quality, based on the chosen reduction roasting technology. Presently, reduction roasting is conducted using batch or continuous processes with direct or indirect roasting of manganese ore. Indirect fired Rotary Kiln technology offers a more efficient reduction roasting process with nearly 100% efficiency. This process eliminates external impurities such as carbon, which can be introduced when using coal, coke, or other carbon materials in direct or batch reduction roasting.

Indirect fired Rotary Kiln technology is not only more environmentally friendly but also reduces the carbon footprint while providing high-purity lower manganese oxide for the leaching process. Other benefits include higher manganese recovery in manganese sulphate, reduced mineral consumption, lower impurity levels, and decreased solid waste generation, improving overall process efficiency. The manganese sulphate solution undergoes further purification, electroplating, and crystallization as required by the manufacturing process.

Given the escalating demand for EMM, EMD, and HPMSM in battery production, particularly for electric vehicles, it is imperative to develop, design, and adopt highly efficient, eco-friendly manganese ore processing technologies. India currently relies on imports for EMM, making it more expensive. To cater to the burgeoning electric vehicle battery market, it is essential to produce high-purity manganese products from indigenous or imported manganese ore in the form of oxides and silicates.

Based on over four decades of industry experience, the author emphasizes the importance of adopting indirect fired Rotary Kiln technology for manganese ore reduction roasting as the first step. Developing technology for impurity removal in HPMSM is crucial to tap into the growing market for electric vehicle batteries. Researchers, entrepreneurs, and manganese chemical producers should focus on manufacturing high-purity, high-value manganese products to promote self-reliance and competitiveness in the global market.

ROISTERERS & DAUBERS

THERE is a fresh earthy smell in the air. The heady fragrance of rain on parched earth evokes a different emotion, especially when one is battling to breathe normally in our fume-choked city. It always amazes me how intelligent (alien-brained) our ancestors were and how correctly they managed to predict the weather so many centuries down the line. It never fails to rain, even a slight precipitation during the Ganapati celebrations or on Janmashtami day perpetuating the stories we were brought up on. According to lore, Lord Krishna was born amid heavy rain and lightning, and that's how his hapless father managed to sneak the baby away across a flooded river to safety from his murderous uncle who was hell bent on killing him.

Folk-lore apart, what is fascinating is how the ancients could predict so much so precisely. With all the 'AI' at our disposal, we are still floundering for solutions and answers. I have many questions of my own. For instance, has the cure for a disease like diabetes or cancer not been found? Or, do the pharma-gods think that they can string us along dependent on their medicines all our life? Why find a cure when we can be their captive consumers for the rest of our lives. And secondly, did the Cardi-V vaccine really protect us or was it a hoax? I am a firm believer in science, but coincidently the three times I did contract the virus was straight after my vaccination!

My doctor confidently says that 'there is no covid now'. As far as science goes there will be mutations that require more immune boosters. Ah well! These small infractions doesn't seem to bother the PYT's. Most of them are happy to display their latest lip colour or cheek tint. Flashing eyes, lips and cheeks were all out in full display at the rocking launch of the new kid in town, Loya at Taj West End. There were back to back celebrations as our friend Aslam Gafoor, who is a respected hospitality consultant and food and wine aficionado invited an intimate group of friends for lunch to partake in both the food and ambiance of Loya. A charming white jewel, abutting the poolside, the restaurant whips up some 'mean' cocktails and serves the most divine repast from North-India. The chefs took pride in their techniques as they showed us around. The evening soiree was charming too as Bangalore's 'birds of paradise' were out in full form, as everyone did a reconnaissance of the Loya jewel. We met up with the city's elite, the bold and the beautiful. I had missed these shenanigans during covid. Now we're back on track!

Prajwal Devaraj

'APART FROM THE FRIENDSHIP FACTOR, I WAS ALSO SATISFIED WITH MY ROLE IN TATSAMA TATBHAVA'

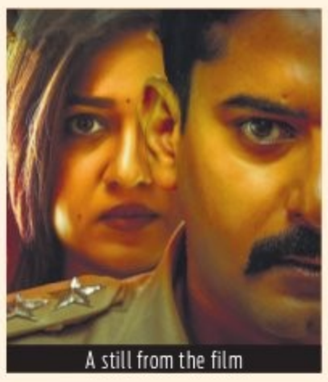
Prajwal Devaraj shares his experience playing a cop role in 'Tatsava Meghana Raj Sarja's comeback film directed by Vishal Atreya

A SHARADHAA

IT is clear that Prajwal Devaraj has a strong affinity for the khaki. This actor, who first played a cop in Kote, has since featured in over four films with this distinguished attire. Remarkably, Prajwal shares that it wasn't a deliberate choice.

THE actor dons the khaki yet again in Tatsama Tatbhava, which is hitting screens on September 15. "The primary goal was to revive Meghana Raj Sarja's presence in the film industry. Meanwhile, Vishal Atreya pitched the concept to Panna (Pannaga Bharana), like any other director seeking input. Pannaga, who had plans to kickstart production, decided to launch his inaugural venture with Meghana. Subsequently, he sent the director my way to gauge my opinion. Given that it was his maiden production, I agreed to review the script. I was captivated by Vishal's narrative and inquired about the actor set to portray the cop. He revealed his interest in casting me for the role. That's when I discussed it with Meghana, who said, 'DJ, do this for me,' and I agreed. Despite accepting the role out of friendship, I found immense satisfaction in the character crafted by Vishal," says Prajwal Devaraj, adding, "Pannaga's transition as a producer was a topic of discussion among Chiru (Chiranjeevi Sarja), me, and others. It was always on the horizon."

Tatsama Tatbhava is an investigative thriller, and as the trailer suggests, it revolves around the mysterious disappearance of the husband of Meghana's character. "It's unlike any role I've undertaken before, and it's entirely new. Tatsama Tatbhava doesn't take any cinematic liberties; everything is rooted in reality. I dedicated a week to prepare for this character. The role breaks away from the conventional format with no bombastic dialogues or flashy shots—just a pure focus on investigation and performance. Audiences will witness a different side of me on the silver screen." Prajwal says.



A still from the film

Personally, Prajwal Devaraj leans towards comedy, but he derives immense pleasure from crime thrillers. "Many films are predictable, and one can easily guess what comes next. However, Tatsama Tatbhava is different, and that's what drew me to the film. I appreciate the way Vishal developed this character—a cop who relishes cooking and applies it to solving cases. He approaches each case from every angle," says Prajwal as he gives a brief about his role. "Vishal's brilliance shines through in his writing, and it's highly likely that we'll see future collaborations between us." he reveals.

Meanwhile. Prajwal has Gana, Mafia, and another project with Lohith H in the pipeline. "Come October, I'll begin shooting on a project with Kalai master," he concludes.

PRAMOD SHETTY'S JALANDHAR WRAPS UP SHOOTING

CE FEATURES

PRAMOD Shetty, known for his versatility as an actor, who has taken up lead roles in films like The Laughing Buddha and Shabasbaddi Magane, has recently wrapped up shooting for his next, titled Jalandhar. The film is currently in post-production, and the makers have shared the first few stills with us.

Directed by Vishnu V Prasannan, this film is said to be an engaging crime thriller set in Madhuvatti, a village by the banks of the Kaveri River. The storyline has been crafted by Lokesh.

The project is produced by Step Up Pictures, and the cast of Jalandhar also features Lokesh Goud, Raghuramankoppa, Bala Rajavadi, Rishika Raj, Arohith Goud, Navin Sagar, and Pratap. Sarin Ravindran has taken care of the cinematography, while Vidhyashankar handles the music direction. The collaboration of Surendran Ravindran and Venki D has contributed to the film's soundtrack.

Bhima Koregaon: A multilingual film in the making

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR Nagashekar is handling several exciting projects simultaneously. He's currently directing Sanju Weds Geetha 2, a film featuring Srinagar Kitty and Rachita Ram, and shooting for this film is all set to commence on September 25. Meanwhile, Nagashekar is preparing for his next ambitious project, which was officially announced during a grand launch event on Friday.

The film produced by Chalavadi Kumar goes by the intriguing title Bhima Koregaon and was inaugurated by Sri Jnana-Prakash Swamy. Interestingly, the storyline draws inspiration from a real-life historic battle that took place in Bhima Koregaon, a district in Pune, back in 1818. This battle carries significant historical importance, particularly due to its association with the Dalit community and the intense clash between the Peshwa forces and the British.

The story for Bhima Koregaon is written by Sanju Katkar, along with DJ Chakravarthy. Nagashekar and his team have grand plans for this project, and they aim to make it in multiple languages.

At the title launch event, Nagashekar passionately expressed his desire to bring the Bollywood actor, Deepika Padukone, on board for a pivotal role in the film. He hopes to turn this dream collaboration into a reality and plans to start shooting for this ambitious project sometime next year.

A middling mystery unraveled through the excessive vices

A SHARADHAA

THE initial disclaimer warning against smoking and alcohol consumption seems rather misplaced in Kaddha Chitra, considering that nearly every frame features the protagonist either clutching a cigarette or a bottle, a visual manifestation of a writer's habit deftly portrayed by filmmaker Suhas Krishna, which sets the tone for the film and leaves a lasting first impression. How this character fits into the larger narrative is a tantalising mystery that lingers throughout.

Meet Vijay Kshatriya (Vijay Raghavendra), an accomplished writer whose life takes a dramatic turn when he relocates to Bangalore, where he falls in love with Aditi (Namratha Surendranath). They marry, and start a family with their daughter, Shanvi. As Vijay crafts his next best-selling novel, allegations of plagiarism threaten to derail his career and shatter his marriage, leaving him grappling with mood swings and depression.

Overwhelmed by the relentless pressures of the publishing industry and media scrutiny, Vijay retreats to Kerala with his daughter, Shanvi, seeking solace in a guest house. There, he observes Shanvi forming an unusual bond with an invisible friend and uncovers the dark history of a girl's murder at the same location. Intrigued, Vijay decides to weave this chilling tale into a new novel, hoping for a comeback.

His resurgence is short-lived, as accusations of plagiarism resurface, plunging him into a perilous battle to prove his innocence. Blurring the lines between reality and illusion, Vijay embarks on a quest to unveil the truth behind a close associate's brutal murder, ultimately, seeking redemption and vindication. However, the culprits resurface at the hospital, leaving us with a tantalising hint of what's to come in Part 2.

Suhas Krishna's exploration of plagiarism as a central theme in the film is undoubtedly intriguing, yet the execution leaves much to be desired right from the outset. The first half of the narrative delves into the protagonist's love story, their marriage, and the joys of parenthood. However, the abrupt shift towards allegations of plagiarism and a subsequent focus on a guest house where he obsessively searches for his daughter disrupts the flow and purpose of the storyline. It's unclear whether the director intended to dissect plagiarism as a theme or if it was merely an incidental element introduced to bring in the crime aspect, without clear direction.

The overindulgence in smoking and excessive alcohol consumption scenes further muddles the narrative, especially when juxtaposed with a poorly-handled depiction of sexual harassment.

RATING 2/5

As for Vijay Raghavendra, he undoubtedly possesses acting prowess, but his portrayal in this role as a writer, appears somewhat lackadaisical, with drinking and smoking becoming predominant traits.

Apart from Vijay, the remaining cast members fail to elevate the film. The technical aspects of the production also leave much to be desired, with only a few instances of vibrant green landscapes by Sri Crazymindzz managing to inject some life into the visuals.

While Vijay Raghavendra's acting prowess is undeniable, here's why we feel this particular film might not be everyone's cup of tea. One, the film's use of plagiarism as a plot device to introduce a crime angle feels underdeveloped and lacks justification. Moreover, the intriguing elements that initially pique one's interest ultimately become a mystery in themselves, leaving the audience perplexed. Indeed, it's questionable whether the story warrants continuation.

KADDHA CHITRA
Director: Suhas Krishna
Cast: Vijay Raghavendra, Namratha Surendranath, Baby Aradhya, Raghu Shivamogga, and Balaji Manohar

SRK is sublime, but the film...

SUDHIR SRINIVASAN

IN Jawan, Shah Rukh Khan manifests as a mythical being, a godly figure. His introduction occurs when the residents of a kindly village pray for deliverance. He makes an entrance—fittingly from the sky—amid shrieks of pain and streaks of lightning. Just so you don't miss the parallels, director Atlee has a huge prop of goddess Kaali, and in case you still miss it, Shah Rukh Khan emulates the goddess' pose, when he stands, hands with weapons and a foot on a fallen adversary. Much like our divine protectors, SRK has more than one avatar in the film. Much like them, he exerts protective influence, not just as an adult but even as a foetus. Perhaps that's why, try as he might, Vijay Sethupathi, playing evil entrepreneur Kaali Gaekwad, simply cannot kill him. At one point, expressing a sort of dry amusement that Vijay Sethupathi has mastered by now, Kaali even checks SRK's body for bullet wounds just to make sure it's all there.

Only the god-like hero is immune to fatal damage though. Everyone else is fair game—and in Atlee's universe, deaths are devices to shock you into caring. Well-meaning villagers get massacred. Farmers commit suicide—and Atlee ensures that you see it in full detail. A bunch of poor people—no, wait, let's be more specific— poor children die asphyxiated in a hospital. A bunch of soldiers get killed in action. And if none of this works on you, a woman—not just any woman—a mother... is sentenced to death. All of this is the film nudging you, imploring you, blackmailing you, into caring.

The multiple-roles angle and the back-and-forth nature of the screenplay got me thinking a lot of Mersal, but I think Jawan is the most Shankar-esque version of Atlee yet. The film, in fact, feels like Shankar on steroids. Shankar (who Atlee assisted) is well-known for often employing the vigilante justice idea and for usually centering such films on a social justice issue. In Jawan, Atlee crams in as many issues as possible. Here's something about weapons manufacturing. Here's something about government hospitals being neglected. Here are a couple of issues that Tamil cinema has been having for breakfast, lunch and dinner: Farmer suicides and heartless factory owners. There's some blink-and-miss commentary on the purpose of prisons as well. These are all important issues, topics so vast and with so much potential that entire feature films would struggle to handle them individually. The problem with Jawan isn't that it tries to cram in as many issues; it's that the film doesn't really seem to care... a lot like how it doesn't really seem to invest emotionally in its characters.

JAWAN
Director: Atlee
Cast: Shah Rukh Khan, Nayanthara, Vijay Sethupathi, Deepika Padukone, Priyamani

RATING 2.5/5

While SRK turns on superstar charisma to make us feel invested in his characters, Vikram and Azad, the writing of the film doesn't really provide him with a lot of assistance. If it did, the film wouldn't have to keep resorting to manipulative shots of its characters shedding tears without conviction. They are crying; why won't you? In Jawan, the tears and the deaths, the politics and the characters, they all feel like mechanical variables of a cold equation.

In Atlee's previous work, Bigil—promoted as a women empowerment film—the women served as accessories in a hero elevation exercise. This time, Atlee does better. The women actually do some fighting, and in two big moments, they perform unexpectedly violent acts of resistance. And yet, the question remains. Do any of them really come across as a real person, with a unique identity? The women still come across as 'dependents', with traditional roles like motherhood getting valourised and held as the height of feminine strength.

But no, Jawan isn't a washout. It's a film with many ideas but not quite the genuine emotional interest needed to really wade into them. There's all the Shankar-esque—or perhaps it's time to say Atlee-esque—enjoyable ostentation in presentation. There are some great shots, like bandages being eaten by fire to reveal a hero's face. Oh, and there's definite political utility in who this film sees as enemies. Jawan shows that a real patriot isn't one who stands by the government; it's a man who isn't afraid to take on corruption even when it's—and especially when it's—within the government. It's a man who speaks truth at the cost of personal peril. And when such a man is played by SRK who breaks the fourth wall and urges you to ask questions of elected representatives, there's definite utility there.

But I only wish these ideas were truly seen for their value—and not just as decorative trinkets. Jawan is shiny, bright, and expensive, but ultimately—and as often is the case with anything shiny, bright, and expensive—devoid of soul. If I had to pick a parallel from within the film, I'd liken it to a shiny gun, one that's packed with cool features and stylish to hold... but won't fire when you most need it to.
